OVERTHROW OF TARDIEU CABINET THREATENS NAVAL REDUCTION PARLEY WITH FAILURE

Hoover Calls Senators to White House Carpet

RETURNS TO FIND WORK ON TARIFF ALMOST STOPPED

President Is Considerably
Irrked by Attack on Hughes Appointment and Wet-Dry Fight.

BREAKFAST PARLEY CALLED FOR TODAY

Representative Tilson Dis-closes President's Disappointment at Slow
Work on Tariff.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—(UN)—President Hoover came back from his Florida vacation today dissatisfied with the failure of senate administration leaders, in his absence, to speak up for his appointment of Charles Evans Hughes as chief justice and to complete work on the tariff bill.

The president made no public comment on the senate situation, but a fairly good idea of how he feels was gained from comment made by one of his advisers, House Republican Floor Leader Tilson, who conferred at length with Mr. Hoover at the White House today.

Tilson said Mr. Hoover was deeply concerned over the failure of the senate to pass the tariff bill. Speaking only for himself, but significantly, as to Mr. Hughes, he said:

"The administration leaders in the senate lost a great opportunity by failing to speak out for Mr. Hughes. If they can't support him, I don't know whom in the country they would support."

Only one administration republican, and he a comparative newcomer, rose to challenge the fiery three-day onslaught on Hughes by democrats and western republicans. That was Senator Glenn, of Illinois.

The administration leaders also have been unable to cope with the democratic-western republican coalition which has almost rewritten the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill.

Tilson intimated he had advised the president, in view of this situation, to take a hand personally and force his senate leaders into the offensive. This Mr. Hoover has hitherto refused to do. Tilson said he did not know whether the president would enter the situation, explaining he is not authorized to speak for the White House.

Hughes has been confirmed, and that matter is ended, except for what it reveals of the president's leadership. But there are other administration projects at stake. Inaction on the tariff has held up, among other things, the prohibition reform legislation the president and his law enforcement commission recommended, as well as such matters as Muscle Shoals and railroad consolidation legislation.

The prolonged tariff debate in the senate has created a great legislative "jam," Tilson said. "There is not much use for the house to continue passing legislation when none of it has a chance to get through the senate until the dam is broken and the president very frankly what the situation is."

Tilson said the situation has reached such a point that the house probably will take three-day recesses as soon as the four remaining appropriation bills are disposed of, which he estimated would be in about three weeks, until the senate catches up. House leaders, he said, would make no effort to hasten passage of remaining prohibition bills.

The burden of action in the senate falls upon republican Floor Leader Watson, of Indiana, who was a pre-convention opponent of Mr. Hoover for the republican nomination. Watson left the senate tariff fight before Christmas, just when the coalition was flushed with victory, and went to Florida for a rest. There was talk at that time of supplanting him, and speculation turned toward Senator Charles L. McNary, of Oregon, who had conducted a successful fight for Mr. Hoover's agriculture relief program, but when he came back Watson resumed his old place, though a shift of committee posts placed McNary in the assistant leadership.

House Bill Carries Fund for Mrs. Steele

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—(Special.)—The house appropriations committee in reporting the first deficiency bill today included an appropriation of $10,000 payable to Mrs. Leslie J. Steele, of Decatur, representing one year's salary as the widow of the late Congressman Steele, of the fifth Georgia district.

The appropriation is recommended in keeping with the policy with congress to pay a year's salary to widows of members who died in office.

Princess Ileana's Betrothal To Count Reported Broken

PRINCESS ILEANA.

BUCHAREST Rumania, Feb. 17.—(UN)—The engagement of Princess Ileana and Count Alexander Von Hohenberg, a love match throughout Europe, was reported today to have been cancelled because of the young man's impoverished condition.

The 25-year-old count, handsome son of the German prince of Pless, was escorted to the railway station here by the chief of police. The princess alone bade him good-bye.

Official quarters evaded answering a direct question as to whether the romance was ended, but indicated the engagement must be considered cancelled.

Liberal newspapers intimated the engagement had been broken because Von Hohenberg was penniless and involved in "compromising" lawsuits. Until today, plans were settled for a spring wedding. To permit the princess to retain her royal status after marriage, the Rumanian regency had raised the count to the status of a prince of the royal blood. Von Hohenberg was scheduled to make a trip to Egypt with his 22-year-old fiancée and her mother, the dowager Queen Marie.

The count was born in London and became a Catholic 10 years ago. His mother was Mary Theresa Olivia (Daisy) Cornwallis, wife of the English family of the Earl of De La Warr.

Less than a year ago reports circulated that he and she were quickly denied that Ileana was to marry King Boris, of Bulgaria.

Council Refuses Plea To Cut Tax On Carnes Realty

Council Monday declined to remit to the First Realty Company about $369 which the firm asked from assessments directed by the municipal government against property of Clinton S. Carnes, defaulting former treasurer of the Baptist Home Mission Board.

A petition setting out that the company was entitled to a remission because the assessment contained personal property of Carnes valued at about $20,000 and that real estate was valued at only $20,000, was offered, but denied.

Petitioners held that Carnes failed to make any return on his real estate holdings at 1206 Fairview road, his home, and that assessors made a default assessment, which included about $20,000 for real estate holdings and $20,000 for personal property. The company in order to protect its equity in the property paid the entire assessment, believing at the time that the entire assessment was against real property.

Since that time they claim they have found out how the division was made and sought redress through the remission route.

'It' Girl's Romance Ended, Broadway Hears

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—(UN)—Rumors of a rift in the Clara Bow-Harry Richman romance were traveling up and down Broadway tonight after the departure today of the "It" girl for Hollywood.

Miss Bow, according to those who witnessed the departure at the Grand Central terminal, was outwardly cool toward the night club promoter and actor. And Richman, it was said, did not register the enthusiasm that marked the movie star's arrival in New York several weeks ago.

Both declined to pose for photographers. Richman left the station before the train pulled out.

Thieves Get $10,000.
MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 17.—(Special.)—Burglars who ransacked the winter home of Harold E. Talbot, Jr., Dayton (Ohio) manufacturer, took jewelry valued at $10,000, police were told. Mr. and Mrs. Talbot were in Palm Beach at the time of the robbery.

SOLICITOR BLOCKS GRIEVANCE-AIRING BEFORE PROBERS

Disgruntled Witnesses
Who Want to Give Personal Complaints Prevented by Policy Instituted.

Elimination of all "disgruntled" persons who seek to appear before the grand jury investigating grand jury as witnesses will result from a new policy inaugurated by the solicitor general's office Monday. In the future no witnesses will be permitted to appear before the grand jury without previously having been questioned by Solicitor General John A. Boykin, or his special assistant, William Schley Howard, and the nature of the testimony thoroughly disclosed.

This policy will be carried out both in order to speed up the investigation and also to eliminate from the grand jury any bias which might be shown by persons who have grievances against members of the city council or heads of municipal departments whose conduct of office is under investigation.

"In the past we have found that a number of persons who have appeared voluntarily and by subpoena go before the grand jury merely to 'knock' some member of council or some city department head who has displeased them personally," Mr. Howard said in discussing the matter. "We do not want to hear from anyone who just has a 'sore spot.' We want facts on which to base our investigation."

The policy was announced by Mr. Howard in a letter to the grand jury members. "If it is needed or desired by the grand jury, the witnesses are summoned by us or appearing of their own volition have no such knowledge, we intend to prevent their appearance before the grand jury. We want it thoroughly understood that we are not trying to ease the feelings of a few disgruntled persons."

Private Office Opened.
To carry out the prosecuting official's announced purpose, Mr. Howard has established a private office in a room adjacent to where the grand jury conducts its sessions. All prospective witnesses are taken before the special assistant solicitor-general and he inquires into the nature of their testimony. If it is needed or desired by the grand jury, the witnesses are directed to go into the grand jury room. If not they are excused.

Former Mayor James L. Key and L. O. Moseley, manager of the Ansley hotel, were among those who were seen entering the grand jury room Monday, as the inquisitorial body swung into what may be the home stretch of the inquiry, hearing more than 30 witnesses during the day.

The nature of Mr. Key's and Mr. Moseley's testimony was not learned. They were questioned by newspapermen, the former reporting that he had "nothing to say" while the latter denied that he even was to appear before the grand jury.

"I came down merely to see Mr. Baker," Mr. Moseley said, referring to Marvin Baker, an investigator on the staff of Solicitor-General Boykin. The hotel manager, however, entered the grand jury witness room and remained there more than two hours.

Parties Investigated.
In connection with Mr. Moseley's appearance, it was learned that for some time the grand jury has been investigating a number of "conference" parties, during which several members of council and other municipal officials were entertained by representatives of the parties.

Legge Denies Any Ill Will Caused by Speeding 'Arrest'

LETTER TO LARSEN ENTIRELY FACETIOUS, HE SAYS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—(Special.)—Publication of reports that Chairman Alexander Legge, of the federal farm board, harbored bitter feelings toward Atlanta and Georgia as a result of being held up for speeding at Jonesboro last week were described by Mr. Legge tonight as "so much bunk."

The farm board chairman admitted that in the car in which he was riding with H. Lane Young, Atlanta banker, who was recently named advisory member of the farm board, and Mercer Lee, of Atlanta, was detained because the driver was speeding. Mr. Legge had been to Milledgeville to deliver an address before the Georgia Association of Farmers and was returning to Atlanta to take a train to Washington.

Intimations that his alleged "bad treatment" in Georgia might influence the chairman's views on the mooted question of where the $30,000,000 central co-operative storehouse for cotton is to be located were described

COUNCIL ACCEPTS NEW CITY HALL; TO OPEN MONDAY

Work of Moving Into Building Will Begin Friday—Fain To Wreck Old Structure.

Final details incident to removal of the seat of the municipal government to the new $1,000,000 city hall at Washington and Mitchell streets were completed Monday afternoon by council, and sanction of Mayor L. N. Ragsdale to the various measures today is the last formally before the actual moving is begun Friday night.

If plans of the buildings and grounds committee of council, headed by Councilman George Lyle, and L. Glenn Dewberry, superintendent of buildings and grounds, materialize, the city government will begin functioning from its new quarters February 24.

Every detail preparatory to the actual moving was cared for in a series of councilmanic resolutions Monday afternoon and the measures received the sanction of the aldermanic board.

First, council adopted a resolution accepting the structure with certain reservations. These were minor, it was explained by Councilman Howard C. McCutcheon, chairman of the special city hall committee, and another clause of the acceptance indemnified the borough against loss for any defect which may appear within a period of 12 months. A surety bond for the full amount of the contract will furnish this protection.

McCutcheon Accepted.
Bid of R. L. McIntyre to move furnishings and equipment in the old city hall building to the new structure was accepted. The borough is to pay $1,400 for this service.

J. W. Fain's offer to give the borough $1,500 for wrecking the old building in order that the cleared area may be turned over to the Carling Hotel Company, Inc., was accepted also. The company will begin paying rentals into the borough treasury at the rate of $3,333 a month just as soon as the strip is turned over to it.

Another stipulation of the 65-year lease to the Carling corporation is that a building costing not less than $2,500,000 shall be erected on the site within three years from the time the tract is delivered to it. A $50,000 certified check guaranteeing performance now is deposited with the city. It bears the signature of Carling L. Dinkler, president of the company.

Concession Bids Rejected.
All bids for concession rights in the new building were rejected by council and the buildings and grounds committee was instructed to re-advertise for bids on a basis of 5 and 10 years.

The committee recommended that the bid go to the Royal Cigar Company, but there was a contention that Whitaker Brothers had submitted a better bid on a percentage basis.

A contract to construct a permanent platform in the council chamber at the new building at a cost of $316 was awarded to the Krueger Manufacturing Company.

Ten-Month-Old Baby Branded With Poker and Then Half Buried Under Pile of Coal.

With her head swathed in bandages which hid a branded face, and with her body covered with long scratches, Flora Belle Beebout, 10-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Beebout, of 701 Chestnut street, Monday night was under the care of a physician, while police started an intensive search for her torturer.

Mrs. Beebout had left her home about 5 o'clock Monday afternoon to pay a visit to a restaurant at 759 Marietta street where her husband works, and had left the home in charge of her step-daughter, Mary Lou Beebout, 12 years old.

Shortly after she left the house, Mary Lou also left for a few minutes to search for her 8-year-old brother, who had disappeared.

When she returned to the house she heard the baby screaming and rushed into the room where she had left her. The little child had been placed in the big coal box, in the bedroom, and had been practically covered up by the fuel. Across the right side of the face she had been branded with a poker, which had narrowly missed an eye.

The stomach of the child had been covered with long scratches apparently inflicted with a pin which was found on the floor.

When Mary Lou found the child in the coal box, she immediately called neighbors who applied first aid treatment and notified the mother. The baby was carried to Grady hospital and later removed to its home.

The parents at first believed that the condition of the child was due to children in the vicinity but an investigation convinced them that this was not the case.

It was then reported to them that a man, whose name was unknown to the neighbors, and whose conduct had been suspicious in the vicinity, in which the Beebout family lives.

Captain A. J. Holcombe has made a full report on the case to Chief James L. Beavers and the search for the torturer will be resumed this morning. Officers will question everybody in the neighborhood whom they believe will be able to throw any light on the subject.

Boy Auto Thief Tells Exploits, Put Under Bond

Adventurous exploits of a miniature "Jesse James," age 15, which included the single theft of a car from the driver at the point of a gun Monday were related before United States Commissioner E. S. Griffith in the preliminary hearing of the case against Herschel Clark, of a Missouri town, on charges of violating the motor vehicle theft act. He was placed under $2,000 bond.

It is claimed that the youngster voluntarily confessed to all the details of his trip from New Castle, Ind., to Atlanta, which he began by hiring the automobile, driving a few miles out in the country and forcing the chauffeur to make his exit by waving a gun at him. In addition, he is said to have relieved the gentleman of all his spare change with the exception of a 50-cent piece with which he "could get back to town."

All went smoothly, it seems, until he reached Milledgeville, Tenn., where the borrowed car had to be abandoned, and the youthful adventurer continued his pilgrimage by the "hitch-hiking" method.

Arriving in Atlanta the first of the month, he managed to eke out an existence for a while, but finally "gave up."

Mabel Willebrandt Arrested for Speeding

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—(Special.)—Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, former assistant attorney general in charge of prohibition prosecutions, was charged with speeding today and will face trial in the Washington police court Friday. She was arrested three days ago.

Mrs. Willebrandt was to have gone to trial this morning and papers had been made out against her by Chester Gray, assistant corporation counsel. She pleaded a previous engagement, however, and Judge Ralph Given agreed to a postponement.

W. P. Hopkins, the policeman who made the arrest, said he followed Mrs. Willebrandt several blocks while she was going at a rate of 38 miles an hour.

Andre Tardieu, whose French ministry was defeated Monday afternoon when it asked a vote of confidence in the chamber of deputies. M. Tardieu has been in power slightly more than three months and during the past month has been leading the French delegation at the London naval conference. He only recently announced the French stand on tonnage, and his defeat is expected to have an important effect on the future course of the parley.

HARRIS QUOTA BILL WINS FAVORABLE REPORT IN SENATE

BY FRANCIS W. CLARKE.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—Following extensive hearings the senate immigration committee today ordered a favorable report on the bill by Senator W. J. Harris, of Georgia, placing immigrants from Mexico and Central America on the same quota basis as Europeans. As the second ranking member of the committee, the Georgia senator himself was directed to submit the report.

Under the terms of the bill Mexican immigration would be reduced to approximately 1,200 annually, against estimates that run all the way from 40,000 to 90,000 Mexicans who now come across the American border each year, Senator Harris said.

The measure is declared to have an important bearing on the future production of cotton in the United States, since large portions of the present Mexican immigration has been in cotton production in three southeastern states of Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas.

Sensor Harris in a statement to The Constitution tonight declared that passage of the bill would have the effect of reducing the Mexican population in the United States some 2,000,000 in 10 years.

"For a number of years," the Georgia senator said, "there has been no well defined restriction of Mexican immigration with the result that thousands of Mexicans have poured over the American line to engage in seasonal work. Estimates as to the actual numbers run between 40,000 and 90,000 annually, but others have stated that the number may be several times this many. There is no way of making a definite check under the present system."

Pointing out that much of the Mexican labor force is seasonal in character, Senator Harris said a considerable portion of those coming over were engaged in cotton planting operations, the records show.

"We do not know how many of them remain in this country and how many return to Mexico, thus falling in the seasonal class. But then informed on the situation estimate that the restrictions proposed would curtail cotton production by some 2,000,000 bales a year."

"The reduction of this much cotton production would have a highly important effect on cotton prices and would be scheduled to provide more reasonable prices to cotton farmers of the south."

The Harris bill has been before the senate committee for some time, having been proposed at the last session, but the vigorous opposition of western elements thus far has succeeded in deferring final action. Big land owners of the Pacific coast and southwestern border sections, together with other interests and industries which have been large employers of cheap Mexican labor have interposed strenuous objection to the proposal.

When the bill comes before the upper chamber, therefore, a spirited fight is expected to develop.

The measure by the Georgia senator, while having the effect of almost excluding Mexican immigration, in fact imposes no greater restriction than the present immigration law applies to European countries. It merely places Mexico on the same basis as other countries.

MINISTRY LOSES IN CHAMBER VOTE AFTER 3 MONTHS

Finance Minister Cheron
Precipitates Government Defeat as Leader

TARDIEU CALLED TO TRY AGAIN

Defeat for Tardieu Will Mean Disruption of French Naval Parley,
Program for Moment.

PARIS, Feb. 17.—The political storm threatening the cabinet of Premier Andre Tardieu since the naval conference got under way in London broke in the chamber of deputies today, and the government went down in defeat.

A few hours later the ministers handed their collective resignation to President Doumergue, who immediately accepted it. The cabinet had been in office for a little more than three months.

President Gaston Doumergue, after receiving the resignation, informed Tardieu he wished him to form another cabinet. The premier was understood to be disinclined to accept at once, believing that the task should be offered first to the radicals who accomplished his overthrow.

Doumergue maintained that Tardieu was not defeated on a straight political issue and was said to be insistent that he reorganize the ministry. Meanwhile the president planned to start tomorrow the routine consultations always necessary before a new cabinet can be formed.

The belief was general that Tardieu would accept the premiership again, so that he might continue his efforts to win a large naval ratio for France at the London conference, and that he would throw Cheron overboard.

Premier Tardieu went down with colors flying. Although unable to rise from his sickbed, where he was confined by a severe attack of grippe, he directed the government's tactics in the chamber by telephone.

Three successive attacks were beaten off before the government finally fell on the fourth vote of confidence by a margin of five votes. The figures were 283 to 281.

The vote was taken on M. Tardieu's order on a financial measure of M. Cheron, who in accord with the premier refused to accept an increase in pensions for the widows of officers and soldiers killed during the World War.

The overthrow of the government places France in the anomalous situation of taking part in the London conference and yet being practically unrepresented there.

Under the French constitution, resigned ministers are empowered to administer "current affairs," but have no authority to bind succeeding governments.

Such being the case, there was nowhere to deport him and he is to be allowed to go his way in peace.

CHICAGO MAY ADOPT 'LIBERTY LOAN' PLAN

Poverty Stricken City Sees New Hope in Bond Flotation.

CHICAGO, Feb. 17.—(AP)—Chicago tonight was believed by local officials to be closer to a solution of its financial trouble than it has been in weeks.

After six men gathered around a conference table with Melvin A. Traynor, president of the First National bank, it was hinted that "liberty loan" would be floated for the benefit of the city and county with the banks taking their share of the bonds as they did during the war.

The conferees were Mr. Traynor, Silas H. Strawn, chairman of the citizens' rescue committee; Robert F. Carr, another member of the Strawn committee; Harris S. Keeler, head of the bureau of public efficiency; Trustee Lewis E. Myers, of the board of education, and Victor Patterson, deputy county controller. The latter two represented the spending bodies.

Myers is a close friend to Mayor William Hale Thompson.

Mr. Traynor made it clear there was to be no dictatorship as to the manner in which funds are to be spent. He also said the politicians were without any sort of victory.

"We are going to give them only the minimum necessary to keep until July 1," he said. "There won't be any opportunity for waste and graft that way." July 1 is the date tax collections are expected to begin. The $700,000,000 or so needed to run the city and county governments until the proposed "liberty loan" is raised was not made clear.

County officials were indignant at criticism of their plan to pay off their 3,862 financially harassed employees with tax anticipation warrants. The officials indicated they would begin issuing the scrip tomorrow with a plea to the employees to accept no discount on the scrip until it will be in defiance of the banks and several large commercial establishments who declared they would not accept the paper.

Vare Is Determined To Run for Senate

ST. LUCIE, Fla., Feb. 17.—(AP)—No statement was forthcoming tonight from the conferences here today between William S. Vare and Philadelphia republican leaders.

W. R. Douglas, Vare's secretary, said the conferences had consisted of "talking over the situation in Pennsylvania and etc." but that there was no statement to be issued. He did not think any would be made here. He said "there has been no change since we came down here."

State Senator Samuel W. Salus and James M. Hazlett, chairman of the Philadelphia city republican committee, were here for the conferences, which admittedly are for the purpose of discussing the Vare candidacy against Senator Joseph R. Grundy for the United States seat and selection of a candidate for the Vare faction for nomination for governor of Pennsylvania.

A statement attributed to Vare today in dispatches from Philadelphia quoting him as saying he had not changed his mind about making the race against Grundy, was denied by Douglas, who said there had been no occasion for such a remark, since Vare had not said anything to the contrary.

Probe Is Requested In Death of Youth

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Feb. 17.—(AP)—An investigation of the killing last December of Bernard Lee Rushon, 19, of Montgomery, Ala., was requested of Attorney-General Fred H. Davis today by William T. Seibels, of Montgomery, solicitor for the 15th judicial circuit of Alabama.

In a letter to the attorney-general, Mr. Seibels said that Rushon was shot to death by Sheriff J. H. McKnight of Volusia county, after escaping from jail when he was sentenced for carrying concealed weapons. The Alabama official said that Rushon was found with a pistol while traveling in his father's automobile, Miami, the gun being carried for "protection." Rushon hesitated about calling upon his family for funds to meet the charge against him and was given a sentence in jail, the solicitor said.

The shooting took place at Bunnell, it was stated, after Rushon, who had been made a trustee at the jail, had "walked away."

Rushon's family was not notified of the killing, the solicitor asserted, and the first knowledge they had of it, he said, was when they observed an item in a Montgomery newspaper about the shooting.

Mr. Davis referred Mr. Seibels' letter to Governor Doyle E. Carlton.

Jersey City a good place to raise a family

Jersey City real estate is not mere land in a large city. Jersey City has much that is unusual to offer the public, in addition to the material advantages of residence; much in addition to the advantages of Nature for industry, marine and rail shipping, etc.

Jersey City is not a prudish city, but its municipal authorities are unyielding in that kind of regulation that keeps out commercialized vice and its by-products of underworld activities.

Pool rooms and dance halls strictly regulated and closed at midnight; dance halls closed all day Sunday; no "hangouts" as breeding places of idleness for young men. No commercialized vice at large; and no "district." A safe place for women and children at all times.

On the other hand, parks are open at all times for encouragement of athletics and outdoor life; theatres open Sunday after 2 P. M. in a broad, wholesome, well-governed city; established, not experimental. Not a sermon in 17 years against vice conditions; there are none.

Fine modern apartments with wide range of rentals; private houses and two-family homes.

Write the Chamber of Commerce or any Jersey City Realtor. Or if convenient, visit Jersey City.

NEW ENGLAND REPORTS TO COLD WINTER DEATHS

Mercury Plunges to 41 Below at Saranac Lake as East Shivers.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—(AP)—Snow and biting temperatures that sank as low as 41 degrees below zero caused intense suffering today in the eastern states, but the weather forecasters promised relief for all but eastern Maine.

Boston, where the thermometer dropped to 2 degrees below zero this morning, reported 10 deaths in New England over the weekend which were attributed to the most acute cold wave that has struck the north Atlantic states this winter.

The coldest spots in the east seemed to be in the vicinity of Saranac Lake, N. Y. At that city the temperature descended steadily for 36 hours until it touched bottom at 35 below, and at Tupper Lake, to the west, the thermometer registered a minimum today of 41.

The snow drifted 6 feet deep at Portsmouth, N. H., and at Cape Cod the drifts held snowplows and automobiles helpless while a severe gale delayed trans-Atlantic and coastwise shipping.

New York city, where snow removal provided work for 8,662 unemployed men in addition to the regular force of 10,000, registered a low temperature this morning of 7 above zero, only 1 degree warmer than February 17, 1896, which was the coldest February 17 on record.

Legal Battle Looms Over Child Heiress

PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 17.—(AP) Mrs. Frederick M. Watriss, former wife of Frank Duff Frazier, society clubman, today filed additional charges against Frazier in her legal battle for full-time custody of their child, Diana, heiress to more than $3,000,000. At the same time she petitioned the court for permission to take the child to England for the summer.

Various charges of disorderly conduct are alleged against Frazier in the paragraph which Mrs. Watriss' attorneys today included in the original charges against the clubman. The fight for the absolute custody of the child was taken into the court February 8, 1928, and since then both parties have made repeated attacks on each other's reputations in an effort to have the court change the existing arrangement which gives the child to each parent during six months of the year.

Automobile Damage Policies Now Give $5,000 Protection

Action of Big Companies Explained by Cary F. Baker, Hartford Manager Here.

Satisfactory experience under excess limits for automobile property damage insurance and a desire to give all policy holders the benefit of more adequate protection has caused the leading casualty insurance companies of the country to announce that car owners will now receive without additional cost a minimum of $5,000 protection under their property damage policies rather than the $1,000 minimum limit which has previously been in force.

Property damage policies now in force will be changed by endorsement or by interpretation so that present policy holders will benefit by the increased protection. The additional coverage will apply to accidents occurring on or after the effective date of the change.

According to Cary F. Baker, southern manager of the Hartford Accident and Indemnity Company, this means that a car owner who becomes involved in an accident which results in the destruction of the property of others is protected up to $5,000. His insurance company agrees to pay up to that amount for any loss for which the assured may be legally liable—to pay all costs taxed against the policyholder in any suit—and to defend in the name of the policyholder any suit which may result under a property damage claim.

Mr. Baker said that another improvement in the Hartford's service is to provide coverage for cars driven by parties not under 14 years of age. The age limit for automobile drivers, with local or state laws, Mr. Baker said. While the new 14-year limit would not be effective in an accident in this state, due to the fact that there is a state law prohibiting persons under 16 from driving automobiles, yet the policy would cover a Georgia car owner in another state.

where local or state laws do not prevent persons of 14 or more years of age from driving, he said.

Six Candidates Ask Three Posts On County Board

With six candidates in the field for three posts on the Fulton county commission, entries in the March 19 primary closed at noon Monday, on the eve of a hearing today before Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy, of Fulton superior court, on a petition in which Commissioner Edward H. Inman asks for an injunction to restrain the democratic executive committee from holding the primary before June 1.

In the race for the posts held by Dr. W. L. Gilbert, Paul S. Etheridge and Walter C. Hendrix are the incumbents and Councilman Nelson T. Spratt, of the tenth ward; Alex Whitely, of Bolton, and Dr. Dan H. Griffith, of Oak Grove district.

Dr. Griffith, who qualified five minutes before the noon deadline by paying the $400 entrance fee, is an eye nose and throat specialist with offices in the Grant building.

Mr. Inman's petition for an injunction to prevent holding of the primary before June 1 charges that there will not be time to purge the voters' list before March 19.

HISTORIC REGIMENTS WILL BE DISBANDED

Third and Fifth Field Artillery Units Must Be Broken Up.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—(AP)—Two historic fighting units of the United States army, the Third and Fifth regiments of the field artillery, will be discontinued "at the earliest practicable date" by Secretary of War Horthy.

The order which makes them inactive will be a part of a general reorganization of the field artillery, announced today by the war department as caused by "the desire to get the greatest value per dollar."

In consequence the Third field artillery, stationed at Fort Sheridan, Ill., must cease regimental colors decorated with battle honors dating back to the War of 1812, while the Fifth, stationed at Fort Bragg, N. C., must furl colors bearing streamers won at Manassas, Antietam, Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, Lorraine, Picardy, Meuse-Argonne, and other battles.

Other field artillery units which are made inactive are the First, Second and Thirteenth ammunition trains, stationed at Fort Hays, Kan.; Fort Sam Houston, Texas, and Fort Bragg, respectively, and 14 batteries at Fort Ethan Allen, Vt.; Fort Robinson, Neb.; Fort Francis E. Warren, Wyo.; Presidio of Monterey, Cal., and Fort Lewis, Wash.

The decision to effect these sweeping changes, the most drastic since the World War is, the department announced the result of intensive studies by the general staff and the chief of field artillery in which every effort was made to increase the efficiency of that branch of the service and to place its units where they would be of most use and assistance in training the national guard and organized reserves.

At the same time, said the war department, it was desired to use to the maximum all permanent quarters, as many of the cantonments built during the war have become uninhabitable.

Liquor Car Seized; One Man Is Jailed

Cox was caught by County Patrolmen Jack Carroll, Cal Cates and Ernest Hornsby following a long chase from the Chattahoochee river at Garretts road bridge to West End. One of the occupants of the alleged rum-running automobile escaped, but Cox was overhauled after a brief foot race when the two men abandoned the car, police said. Officers said that they found 205 gallons of whisky in the automobile.

Smith Approved.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—(AP)—The senate judiciary committee today voted favorably on the nomination of Sawyer Smith for reappointment as district attorney in eastern Kentucky but reserved the right to reconsider its decision if additional information now on the way to the committee warranted any change.

The woman of today values expert beauty care.

Why every woman who values beauty needs the services and advice of a Professional Beauty Expert

DURING recent years, beauty science has been so highly developed by the experts in this comparatively new profession that every woman can now make the most of her natural loveliness.

Laboratories are workrooms for research. Schools of beauty culture have been developed to teach workers not only the methods of perfecting external beauty but also laws affecting good health.

Today—to add that finish, that perfection of grooming which distinguishes the truly fastidious woman from her less particular sisters—a certain professional touch is needed. The deft, well-trained, skilful touch of the beauty expert.

Since Cleopatra's time

The quest for beauty is not new. Neither is the science of beauty culture. Both began when history began. But in more recent years we have had greater leisure, more time for perfecting ourselves, less need for the crude, heavy makeshifts of pioneer days. And we have turned, naturally enough, to those whose experience qualifies them to help us—the beauty specialists.

Your beauty expert applies, to your individual

Modern beauty culture has been making tremendous strides—today, it has become a science practiced by specialists whose sole task is to safeguard and accent beauty.

case, the methods best suited to bring out your own natural loveliness.

Go to Paris, home of beauty in all its forms; or to Rome, Madrid, London, Berlin, Budapest, Vienna! Wherever you travel—either here in the United States or abroad —you will seek out experts to help protect and revitalize your good looks.

And it is therefore particularly interesting that more than 19,800 of these experts today recommend Palmolive Soap. What a remarkable tribute to the purity, the blandness, the delicacy of this vegetable oil soap, which is based on an age-old formula combining palm and olive oils for beauty cleansing!

An aid to your beauty expert

Palmolive does not—nor would any one claim that it did—make all other beauty care unnecessary. It aids your beauty specialist by providing the finest natural skin cleanser, the greatest day-and-day-out safeguard for facial beauty. Its thorough, gentle cleansing, of course, makes the work of the beauty specialist easier.

And it is, for the same reason, an ideal bath soap. That is one of many reasons why 19,813 world-famous beauty experts recommend it... why they unite to urge "foundation cleansing by one means and one means only—the twice daily use of Palmolive Soap."

This advertisement is published in the interests of lovelier complexions and the furtherance of the beauty profession by the Colgate-Palmolive-Peet Co.

Druid Hills Church To Open Large Building Fund Drive

Inspirational Meeting Is Called for Thursday in Auditorium.

Members of the Druid Hills Methodist church will launch their building fund campaign for the erection of the new $400,000 church edifice, at an inspirational meeting scheduled for Thursday night in the present church auditorium, it was announced Monday.

Dr. Louis D. Newton, pastor of the church, whose congregation recently completed one of the south's finest religious edifices, will address the Methodist inspirational meeting.

The proposed church will be erected on a site recently purchased, adjoining the present church site on Seminole avenue, between Ponce de Leon and Blue Ridge. It will have a seating capacity of 1,700 and is being designed according to the latest conception of architectural beauty for this type of structure by Ivey and Crook, Atlanta architects.

Built in 1912.

The present building, which has been in use since 1912, will be used to house the Sunday school department when the new building is completed. It has a seating capacity of about 700 and occupies a lot fronting 182 feet on Seminole at the corner of Blue Ridge, which will give the new church a total frontage of about 382 feet.

The congregation and departments of the church have been divided into five units for canvassing work during the campaign, which will be confined to the actual membership and to affiliated departments.

Paul T. Arnold has been placed in charge of solicitation among members residing in Fulton county; Dr. H. T. Bursley among members residing in DeKalb county; Mrs. W. A. Albright among women members; W. D. Thomson among elementary members.

and Mrs. Mildred Stokes among members of the Young People's division. Largest Methodist.

The church at present has the largest membership of any Methodist church in the state, with about 2,500 on its rolls. Its congregation was organized 20 years ago.

The $400,000 sought will be used to liquidate current debts on the new property, pay for improvements and additions to the present plant, and build the new edifice. About $300,000 will be expended on the building itself.

Plans are to raise approximately $100,000 this year, which would permit the beginning of construction. The remaining subscriptions will be called in during a period of from three to five years.

Benefit for Chest To Be Given Tonight

Officials of the Atlanta Community Chest and its 39 agencies of helplessness have expressed hope that the present desperate financial emergency will be partially relieved through a benefit concert at 8 o'clock tonight in the Georgia hall of the Henry Grady hotel.

The proceeds of the concert will go to charitable purposes by order of the grand matron of the Order of the Eastern Star, members of the Bolton chapter, of which organization originally arranged the program. It was placed at the disposal of the Community Chest, with whose desperate needs every Atlantian is familiar.

An acute situation has resulted because of lack of contributions in the campaign last year for public support, and delay in county appropriation. The executive committee of the Chest and friends have broadcast widely the danger of suspension that now confronts the organization.

Tonight's concert will include a program by the Rhythm Kings, well-known orchestra; singing by Miss Pearl Meyers Baker, coloratura soprano, and by T. G. Fowler, tenor, and a performance by George Bishop, Jr., violinist.

Lhevinne in Piano Recital Thursday

Josef Lhevinne, world-famous pianist, will appear in the fourth and final concert of the Civic Music Association series at the Wesley Memorial auditorium on Thursday at 8:30 p. m. There will be no ticket sale for this recital, admission being restricted to holders of membership cards in the music association only.

Persons desirous of hearing the concert, however, may do so by joining the music association for the 1930-31 season prior to Thursday. By special arrangement all new members for next season will be admitted to the Lhevinne recital as a special extra attraction without added charge.

Membership in the association costs $5 for the season and entitles the member not only to all of the series concerts, but also to the forum concerts, and musical programs held throughout each season.

Eugene R. Black is president of the association. Mrs. Wilmer L. Moore, president of the Atlanta Music Club, is vice president and applications for 1930-31 memberships should be sent to her at the office of the association in the Phillips & Crew building on Peachtree street.

Comparing the receipts with other periods, Mr. Matheson said that $102,653.80 was collected for the month ending January 15, while $94,872.74 came in during the month ending February 15, 1929. ## Lift Costs to Build New Police Station

First steps looking toward erection of a new police station were taken Monday afternoon when council adopted an ordinance by Councilman W. Paul Carpenter calling for increase of costs in police court from $1 a case to $2.

A total of 74 cents out of each dollar will be set aside in a special fund for the new station and the remaining 26 cents will go to the Atlanta board of education. Last year there were 37,000 cases.

Democratic Solons Beat Sampson Again

FRANKFORT, Ky., Feb. 17.—(AP) The Kentucky house of representatives today passed the controversial highway reorganization bill which takes from Governor Flem D. Sampson, lone republican administrative officer, the sole power he now has of appointing members of the highway commission. The vote was 53 to 42 and the measure now goes to the senate, which already has passed a bill for which the house bill was a substitute.

Governor Sampson in statements has attacked the measure, which provides for abolition of the present commission of four members and appointment of another of eight members, named by the governor, lieutenant governor and attorney-general, the latter two democrats. The new commissioners would serve until 1932, when a new governor takes office.

The organization democrats opposing the governor and the minority republicans won another victory in the house today, a resolution being rejected to permit highway commission representatives at hearings being held by the legislative committee investigating the highway department.

The organization democrats opposing the governor and the minority republicans won another victory in the house today, a resolution being rejected to permit highway commission representatives at hearings being held by the legislative committee investigating the highway department.

The governor's message vetoing the bill to abolish the office of pardon commissioner was read in the senate but action was deferred until tomorrow.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified croscote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs croscote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to croscote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the croscote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

The high rate of dividends allotted to participating policyholders continued and the special dividend on maturing policies extended and increased.

EXTRACTS FROM DIRECTORS' REPORT

New policies paid for numbered 161,391 for a net amount of $654,451,443.27, an advance of $213,206,752.36, or more than forty-eight per cent., over the previous year. This marked increase and the fact that the average policy, for the first time, exceeded $4,000, affords impressive evidence of the ever-growing popularity of the Company.

After deducting amounts reassured, the total assurances in force amount to $2,401,237,036.94, an increase of $504,321,102.37. This advance is notable not merely for its magnitude, but because when allowance is made for terminations by death and maturity, it represents a remarkably high rate of continuance and evidences great satisfaction on the part of our policyholders.

The amount paid to policyholders since organization, together with the amount at present held for their security or benefit, exceeds the total amount received from them in premiums by $139,290,474.03.

The rate of interest earned on the mean invested assets has risen to 7.02 per cent. This figure includes a certain amount from bonuses and stock privileges accruing on many of the Company's holdings; but if these were entirely eliminated the rate would still be 6.60 per cent.

A net profit of $13,077,284.62 was realized from the redemption or sale of securities. The surplus earned during the year, based on the values entered in the accounts, amounted to $42,863,578.59, but from this sum substantial appropriations have as usual been made to further strengthen the position of the Company.

An additional $10,000,000.00 has been deducted from the market values of our securities as a provision against possible market fluctuations, raising the amount thus set aside for this purpose in the accounts to $30,000,000.00.

A further $1,000,000.00 has been written off the Company's buildings.

$931,000.00 has been appropriated to raise the annuity reserves to the Rutherford table of valuation, with interest at 3½ per cent. This exacting standard requires reserves of $2,656,000.00 in excess of those of the Dominion Government standard.

$1,200,000.00 has been set aside as additional provision for claims arising from total disability, death claims as yet unreported, and possible claims under cancelled policies on which surrender value or reinstatement might be applied for.

The special amount entered as a liability to provide for unforeseen contingencies has been maintained at $12,500,000.00.

After making all these deductions and allocations, $5,868,899.96 has been added to the undivided surplus, bringing the total over liabilities, contingency accounts, and capital stock to $60,307,762.44.

In accordance with our usual conservative practice the securities owned by the Company have again been valued at figures much below the market quotations current at the close of the year. This undervaluation represents an important element of strength to the Company additional to the specific provisions in the statements.

Your Directors are pleased to announce that the high scale of profits at present allotted to participating policyholders will be continued during the ensuing year, while the Special Dividend on maturing policies, introduced last year, has been extended to include policies maturing after having been in force five years or longer, and the scale of benefit has been increased.

The business of the Company has always been conducted under the exacting provisions of the Canadian Insurance law and the rigid supervision of the Insurance Department of the Government of Canada. Ever since we entered the United States in 1895, the Company has been under similar supervision there and is now subject to the regulations of thirty-eight States of the Union which require periodical examination of the affairs of all companies licensed in their territory. In the discharge of their regular duties a committee of twenty-two examiners, representing the States of Michigan, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Ohio, Tennessee, Washington, Virginia, West Virginia, Florida and the District of Columbia recently completed an exhaustive examination into every department of the Company's affairs. The report of this committee makes gratifying reference to the liberal treatment accorded to our policyholders, and provides authoritative testimony to the Company's strength. Even adopting the low valuations placed by us on our securities, the committee still reported a surplus at the close of last year $1,333,921.71 in excess of the figure claimed by the Company.

Boy's Grave Revealed In New Confession

WOOSTER, Ohio, Feb. 17.—(AP)—Charles Hannah has confessed that the body of Melvin Horst, 4, is buried on the bank of Sugar creek near a bridge between Orville and Rice land. Detective Ora Slater said late today. Hannah was arrested on suspicion several days ago.

Slater said that according to Hannah's new confession, Hannah and Cagid on or about January 4, 1929, dug the body of Melvin from its original resting place in the Hannah yard. They placed it in Conald's car and drove to Sugar creek, where the body was again buried. Slater said "for certain reasons," no attempt would be made to find the body tonight.

Slater said the statement was made to him by Hannah in the presence of Sheriff Clark Shearer, two deputy sheriffs and Marshal Ed Mills, of Rittman, Ohio.

While Slater's statement was taken to mean that none of the Wayne county officials would make an attempt to find the body of Melvin tonight, several searching parties started at once for the spot indicated by Hannah.

J. Ben Faulkner, manager at Candler field for Eastern Air Transport and its predecessor, Pictorial Aviation, Inc., since air mail operations were put under way at the local airport, is Cuba-bound—or will be in a day or so—with a nice job awaiting him on the Caribbean side. Ben, who is an excellent pilot as well as an efficient operations man, is staying with the Curtiss interests and will be associated with the Compania Nacional Cubana de Aviacion Curtiss, at Havana, a new company which will have its formal opening on February 24. He will do flying and instruction work in addition to his executive duties with the new company.

Faulkner is enthusiastic over the prospect of living in Cuba, offering, as it does, a salubrious climate and many other advantages not now available in this land of the free. The new company's equipment, he said Monday night, will be on a par with that offered by any commercial aviation outfit in this country and a complete flying service will be offered—instruction (200 students already having been signed up), cross-country hops and flights about the airport—with the possibility later of a tie-up with an air mail operator. Ben, who is to depart with his family Wednesday by train for his new assignment, stated that the company would use Curtiss Fledglings for primary training and Challenger Robins, the new Curtiss Thrush and two tri-motor Fords for advanced training, as well as for cross-country flying. Several D. H. Gypsy Moths will be on hand for the use of private flyers. The new company will begin operations in an administration building representing an investment of $125,000.

Succeeding Faulkner as field manager for Eastern Air Transport is Fred Schwemle, who formerly held a similar position at the Miami municipal airport. Like Faulkner, Schwemle has been connected with Pictorial and its several successors for a number of years and was associated with Faulkner at the Philadelphia headquarters before air mail operations were begun. When the Atlanta-Miami route was inaugurated, he was made a pilot on the Jacksonville-Miami leg, establishing a fine record as a mail flier until his appointment as Miami manager. He already is in Atlanta, ready to take charge as soon as Faulkner heads for the south.

A Sikorsky Amphibian, type S-38, Wasp-powered, which Saturday morning left the company's plant at Bridgeport, Conn., on a 4,500-mile swing around the eastern, middle western and southern states, is expected to pay a visit to Candler field within the next week or so. Lieutenant Commander R. E. P. Elmer, sales manager of the Sikorsky Aviation Corporation, is in charge of the trip and is accompanied by Miss Novotak, Miss Bogoslawsky, engineer; Pilot George Meissner and a mechanic. In addition to Atlanta, stops in the south are scheduled to be made at Louisville, Ky., Memphis, Tenn., Vicksburg, Miss., New Orleans, La., Pensacola, Fla., Brunswick, Ga., and Charleston, S. C.

Tripling of American aviation exports during 1929 as compared with the preceding year was announced Monday by the department of commerce at Washington. Twenty-five countries purchased American aircraft during the past year, including 354 land planes, seaplanes and amphibians valued at $5,774,480. In 1928, only 102 planes, valued at $1,750,633, were exported. Of the total aircraft exports, 50 per cent went to Latin-America and the West Indies, between 3 and 4 per cent to Europe and 18 per cent to the far east and the Antipodes. Engine and parts exports increased proportionately during the 12-month period.

John H. Candler, son of Asa G. Candler, Jr., Atlanta capitalist, Monday hoped to fly for St. Louis with four friends and with Beeler Blevins as pilot, the object of the journey being a look-in on the International Aircraft Exposition, now holding forth in the Missouri city. The trip was made in Asa Candler's white Lockheed Wasp Vega, and, barring head winds, should have been completed in about three hours and a half. In the party were Jack Phinizy, Hugh Inman, Milton Riley and Robert B. Schwab and they are expected to return to the city Wednesday.

The United States bureau of standards announced Monday from Washington that successful blind-flying "fog" landings with radio beams are definitely assured, although a few changes in the methods of using the beams are necessary. Perhaps two years will be necessary to perfect the device, it was said. The blind-flying test made successfully last September by Lieutenant Jimmy Doolittle at Mitchell Field, N. Y., was with a directive radio beam in conjunction with several non-radio instruments. More recent experiments have gone beyond that method, it was revealed.

A pilot seeking to land but unable to see the ground below him must be given instantaneous information on his three co-ordinates in space, it was pointed out. He must be guided to and along a suitable runway, must know how far along it he has gone and the height of the landing path above the ground must be properly regulated. The first information is given by the small directive radio beams such as Doolittle used, the second by a marker beacon and the third by a landing beam. At the time of Doolittle's tests the second and third beams were not available. In one experiment the landing path was marked by a beam beginning when the plane was approximately three miles from the landing field and at an altitude of 2,000 feet. Following the beam, the pilot dropped to 500 feet at two miles, 240 feet at one mile, and was only five feet from the ground, almost paralleling it, at 500 feet from the landing point.

Guards Cleared.
KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 17.—(AP)—E. D. Jeffries, Knox county superintendent of roads, said today charges of brutal treatment of prisoners at the county workhouse have not been substantiated and announced that he plans no action against a guard alleged to have whipped a negro prisoner a few hours before the prisoner's death February 2.

MEETING OF SCHOOL BOARD POSTPONED

Action Is Taken To Find Time To Seek Additional Funds.

In an effort to forestall any premature drastic action in solution of the financial problem facing the Atlanta public school system, Dr. McIntosh M. Burns, president of the Atlanta board of education Monday called off a scheduled meeting of that body Thursday afternoon, and stated that a session probably will not be held before March 1.

Councilman W. Paul Carpenter, chairman of special conference committees representing the board and council, declared he had not yet received an answer to a letter addressed to Governor L. G. Hardman concerning the possibility of an extra session of the Georgia legislature, at which it was proposed to urge legislation seeking additional funds for schools.

He declared, however, that he would call his committees into session the latter part of the week whether he gets an answer or not.

In connection with the tentative budget now under preparation by the administration department, which will call for operation of the school system only seven months this year instead of the full term of nine months, Dr. Burns Monday stated that if the schools could be closed in June and opened November 1, it would give teachers an opportunity to find other employment for the five months the schools would be closed.

The budget was being prepared as an emergency measure in the event that additional funds are not procured.

Dr. Burns and others made it plain, however, that there is no intention of lopping two months from the school term if it can be avoided.

"We are going to continue to attempt to find money to operate on a full term program," Dr. Burns said. "If we are forced to curtail the program we will do so with great reluctance, knowing the children of Atlanta will be the ones to suffer."

School funds declare that the $3,187,000 allocation for schools is $450,000 short of what it will take to operate the system on a strictly ## bread and water basis without any frills, and that the fund is $100,000 short of meeting actual salaries of employees of the system.

Mayor L. N. Ragdale Monday also entered the school controversy when he declared he believed all departments should operate on the budgets made up by council. All other departments of the municipal government struggle along as best they can on the money appropriated to them, and schools should do likewise, he contended.

Palm Beach Sneers At Hoover Sailfish

PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 17.—(UN)—The size of the sailfish caught by President Hoover and his party at Long Key last week has provoked a discussion in sailfish circles of Palm Beach.

That discussion reached a new peak today when Harry Rosenfeld, of New York, brought in one measuring eight feet five inches, for a season record. Members of the exclusive Sailfish Club of Florida here declared they do not bother with fish the size the president's party caught.

S. S. Mauretania Sets New Speed Record

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—(UN)—The Cunard liner Mauretania set a record of 44 hours and 26 minutes today for the Havana-New York run, averaging 26.62 knots per hour.

About 25 miles off New York harbor the vessel struck submerged wreckage and was delayed for five minutes. It was believed the damage was not serious.

The vessel is scheduled to leave Thursday morning on a Mediterranean cruise.

Two Burned.

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., Feb. 17.—(AP)—Raleigh Lawson, 35, and his wife were burned to death last night when their home, in Stokes county, about 30 miles from here, was destroyed by fire, according to advices received here this morning.

Fire details were available this morning but Sheriff John Taylor, of Stokes county, had started an investigation.

CAROLINA PLAYMAKERS APPEAR HERE TONIGHT

Famous Drama Organization To Present Three One-Acters at Local School.

The Carolina Playmakers, one of the most famous groups of amateur theatrical producers and performers in the country, will appear tonight in three one-act plays at the Druid Hills school auditorium. Their coming is a matter of primary importance in the current entertainment season and will undoubtedly draw a capacity audience to the school.

The program for tonight consists of a fantastic negro comedy, "The No Count Boy," written by Paul Green; "Job's Kinfolks," a play by Loretto Bailey; and "Magnolia's Man," a hilarious comedy of the North Carolina mountain people.

The Carolina Players have won the unstinted praise of all critics in New York, where they have scored high honors in the annual "Little Theater" contests. They are also remembered in Atlanta for excellent productions given here in past seasons. All their plays are written, produced and acted by their own membership and, with years of achievement behind them, they have won national renown as the pioneers in something new and vitally important to the American drama.

Alleged Girl Robber Loses Legal Battle

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 17.—(AP)—Barbara Dalton, 25, of New Boston, Michigan, was on her way to that city today to face charges of aiding in an $18,000 bank robbery there in 1926.

The Florida supreme court recently upheld a decision of Judge F. F. Atkinson of circuit court here, denying the woman a habeas corpus petition.

The woman was arrested here some time ago, after a confession to Baltimore police by James Dell, in which a woman was named as a participant in the robbery. Miami police made the arrest when they found that she and Dell had frequently been seen here together.

After questioning, she was released,

but was re-arrested later when identification was sent here from New Boston, Michigan.

She resisted extradition by entering a petition for writ of habeas corpus, but the petition was denied by Judge Atkinson.

The robbery about which the case was built was committed in October, 1926, when armed men held up the bank, taking $18,000.

Worthington Unable To Testify on Shoals

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—(AP)—Appearance of J. W. Worthington, chairman of the executive committee of the Tennessee River Improvement Association, before the senate lobby committee for questioning concerning his activities in behalf of Muscle Shoals legislation, has been postponed indefinitely.

Worthington, who was expected to testify before the committee tomorrow, has informed Chairman Caraway that he is too ill to make the trip to Washington from Tate Springs, Tenn., where he has been reported ill several weeks.

Caraway has charged Worthington with feigning illness in an effort to "dodge" the senate committee. After this charge last week Worthington telegraphed Caraway that he was coming to Washington despite his doctor's orders. Today, however, the chairman received word that Worthington has suffered a relapse and would not be able to appear.

Ending the suffering of 10 years in just a few weeks is going some, but that's just an example of how quickly Tanlac works in stubborn cases that never yield to other remedies.

No wonder so many local people are so enthusiastic about Tanlac—no wonder local druggists are proud to stock this medicine. Read for instance what Mr. J. L. A good powerful medicine was needed to fix me up and Tanlac proved to be all of that. From it I got relief from all troubles, stomach and rheumatism. My digestion now is just about 100% good. No more pain or distress, eat good, sleep as good as I eat, pain, stiffness, soreness all gone. Rheumatism in back and shoulders wiped out. I have tried out lots of medicines but Tanlac gave me results." That's the story of Tanlac in a nutshell—it gives results and gives them quick, for every herb, bark and root is a real medicine. ## $48,000,000 Deficiency Bill Is Reported for House

Appropriation for Expansion Program at Atlanta Penitentiary Included in Bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—(AP)—The first deficiency appropriation bill in the Hoover administration, carrying $48,151,854, of which the veterans' bureau would receive $15,250,000, will be taken up for consideration tomorrow by the house.

The measure reported today by the appropriations committee carried $400,000 for reconstruction of the executive offices of the White House, destroyed by fire Christmas Eve, and $3,000 for repairs to the capitol, damaged by fire in 1921. It also would provide $32,000 for arbitrating the claims of Canada in the T'm Alone case.

Of the $1,161,380 allotted to the justice department for federal penal institutions the sum of $173,615 is allowed for the Atlanta Federal penitentiary. The $1,342,000 to Coast Guard. The treasury department was allotted $2,577,711, of which $1,342,000 would go to the coast guard. The sum of $2,184,253 was allowed the navy department, of which $1,600,000 was to replace 68 destroyers, develop submarine safety devices and salvage equipment.

The department of justice was given $2,033,144. Of this sum, $1,161,380 was allowed the federal penal institutions.

The bill set aside $2,711,726 for the interior department, under which the bureau of Indian affairs would receive $2,142,114.

$5,740,000 for Census.

The commerce department was allotted $6,434,947. Of this sum, $5,740,000 was for taking the 15th census.

With $3,670,000 for the forest service to fight forest fires, the measure set aside $6,133,000 for the agricultural department.

The District of Columbia received $63,550; the new supreme court building $500,000; public buildings and parks $504,374; the federal trade commission $240,000; Arlington Memorial bridge $200,000; the legislative branch $1,032,470, of which the house of representatives received $36,404; the architect of the capitol $69,325, and the remainder would go for increases in pay of employees and for miscellaneous purposes.

The measure also set aside $3,000,000 for settlement of judgments and claims rendered in courts and provided for numerous other minor activities of the government.

NEW WATER SYSTEM FOR PRISON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—(Special)—Appropriations totaling $173,615 for the maintenance and installation of a new water system for the Atlanta federal penitentiary were included in the first deficiency bill, reported to the house today by the appropriations committee.

The cost of the new water system was placed at $25,615, which will include equipment for drilling wells. Of the remaining $148,000 the sum of $17,700 was allotted for salaries and wages.

Hearings before the bill, made public coincident with the report, revealed plans of the department of justice for increasing the number of guards

BORLAND BODY FOUND NEAR EIELSON PLANE

Finding of Pilot's Body Expected Momentarily After Mechanic Is Found Dead

MOTORSHIP NANUK, NORTH CAPE, Siberia, Feb. 17.—(AP)—The body of Earl Borland, companion of Carl Ben Eielson, noted Arctic flyer, has been found near the wreckage of their plane which crashed November 9 last, 90 miles southeast of North Cape, and searchers have resumed the hunt for Eielson's body. Storms had interrupted the search.

Momentarily expecting word from the searchers that the body of Eielson had been found. The officers and crews of this ice-bound fur trading vessel today were preparing to receive Borland's body.

The finding of the body was the first actual proof of the generally accepted belief that the two airmen died in the wreck which occurred while they were attempting to fly to the Nanuk from Teller, Alaska.

Borland's body was found Thursday but bad weather kept Aviator Harold G. Gilliam from bringing the news to the Nanuk.

Working under severe weather conditions, 18 men today were digging in the snow drifts near the wreckage in the search for the body of Eielson, who was pilot for Sir Hubert Wilkins, the explorer.

As the two airmen were side by side in the plane which was filled with supplies for the Nanuk, it was believed here the body of Eielson would be found within a short distance of Borland's which was under five feet of snow and ice. It lay near the engine of the plane which had been hurled from the wrecked plane.

After Borland's body is brought here, it will be taken to the Alaskan coast in one of the planes which has been here on the search.

Searchers said indications were that

Borland was killed instantly when the plane crashed.

Pilots Gilliam and Joe Crosson located the wreckage of the plane January 25. Parts of the ship were scattered over a wide area and workmen were sent to the scene by airplane and dog team to clear away snow and ice in the search.

NOTED DIPLOMAT DIES OF PNEUMONIA

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 17.—(AP)—Alexander P. Moore, United States ambassador to Poland, who followed a newspaper career from office boy to metropolitan publisher and carried on in the diplomatic service of his country, died here at 12:25 p. m. today. He was 63 years old.

A seemingly minor cold, which rapidly developed into bronchial pneumonia, caused the death of the former Pittsburgh newspaperman who recently was appointed America's first ambassador to Poland. His illness never permitted him an opportunity to serve in the foreign post. Prior to this last appointment he had served as ambassador to Spain and Peru.

At his bedside when he died were two cousins, Marion A. Culbertson and Eleanor Schuber, a former associate publisher, J. P. Emge, and Mrs. Emge, and Marion Davies, screen star, at whose ranch Mr. Moore spent several days prior to his fatal illness.

Relatives said burial would be at Pittsburgh, where Mr. Moore rose to leadership in the journalistic world. It had not been decided whether the funeral services would be held here.

Mr. Moore apparently had been suffering from an infection of the throat and lungs for some time before he became aware of his condition. After a visit to friends in the motion picture industry he went to Palm Springs, near here, to visit acquaintances. He contracted a cold and returned to Monrovia, Cal., to enter a sanitarium. The infection was discovered and in a week he was fighting for his life. Last week he was removed to a hospital here but he failed to respond to treatment.

2 Women, 1 Man To Face Recorder

Mrs. J. B. Renow, 25, and Miss Nina Conville, 25, both of 72 West Peachtree place, Monday night were required to post bail on disorderly conduct charges following an alleged fight February 8 in which Miss Conville is said to have struck and probably seriously injured H. J. Durden, 450 Woodward avenue, with a black-jack after he had knocked Mrs. Renow down.

Durden, according to a police report, went to the West Peachtree place apartment building, of which Mrs. Renow is in charge, looking for a friend and when informed that "she was not there" hit Mrs. Renow and subsequently was knocked down by Miss Conville. At a private hospital Monday night his condition was said to have been improved.

Durden will face the recorder on charges of being drunk and disorderly at the triple hearing scheduled for Thursday afternoon if his condition permits, officers said.

Kidnaping Suspect Caught in Columbia

Arrested at Anderson, S. C., Monday morning and held for Fulton county officers, Mrs. M. L. Krebs, 34, will be given an extradition hearing this morning at Columbia on an indictment charging her with the kidnaping of Bessie Louise Russell, 17-year-old Atlanta girl.

A. C. Creel, alleged to have been associated with Mrs. Krebs in organizing a road show and in defraying expenses of the performers, was arrested in Atlanta last Friday night and held under bond of $300. Pending decision of the South Carolina governor, Mrs. Krebs was held under bond of $300.

An Investment that does not fluctuate in value— Life Insurance

OWNERS of life insurance have had occasion recently to compare the stability of this form of investment with that of even the highest grade securities.

A chart of the market price averages of leading stocks for twenty years shows an irregular line that rises and dips, sometimes vertically, with "peaks and valleys".

There are no "depressions" in the investment values of life insurance policies. They do not fluctuate with business cycles. From year to year, the 44 million Metropolitan Life Insurance policies show a steady increase in values to policy-holders.

The man who regularly invests part of his earnings in life insurance can go to sleep each night with the knowledge that he is building an estate of the greatest security and with a sure investment return for every dollar paid in.

Life insurance is an investment whose value constantly increases the longer it is kept in force.

BIDS ON COUNTY HIGH EXCEED SUM SET UP

$98,000 Is Lowest Figure
Received—Board Meets Again Today.

Bids for constructing the north side county high school, opened Monday by the Fulton county board of education, were slightly higher than the amount appropriated by the board for the first unit of the school, and members of the board will meet again at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon to consider award of a contract on the basis of refigured bids, it was announced Monday afternoon.

The county board appropriated $98,000 for the first unit of the new high school, but the lowest figure received Monday, including the acceptance of alternates, was more than cines I tried were unable to do in two years.

"Some way or other I seemed to lose all my pep and there was many a day when it was just about all I could do to keep up and going. My digestion went back on me and I couldn't eat anything hardly without suffering afterwards; I hardly ever wanted anything to eat anyway. Then my nerves went all to pieces and I've spent half the night many a time wishing I could get to sleep, but unable to do it. Mornings I'd feel just about as bad as when I went to bed and it was all I could do to muster up enough pep to get out of bed and go on the job.

"The medicines I took didn't do me any good, and I don't know what I would have done except that my wife had taken Sargon with wonderful results, and she got me to try it. And as soon as I started it things began to change for me! By the time I had finished the fourth bottle I felt like a different man. It's a caution the way I eat now, and my stomach takes care of everything without a bit of trouble, and I've taken on five pounds in weight! There is no more of the old rolling and tossing and lying awake like I used to do. I sleep like a log, get up feeling good and go on the job with all the strength and pep any man needs. The days don't drag like they did—I really enjoy my work now and I'll tell anybody that Sargon is a real medicine!

"Sargon Pills straightened out my liver and gave me the first lasting relief I have had from constipation in five years. I certainly believe in the Sargon treatment and am glad of a chance to recommend it to others."

The above statement was made by J. A. McGuire, 715 Ponders Ave., Atlanta.

The Sargon man is at Jacobs' Main Store, 48 North Broad St., Grant Bldg., meeting the public and giving the facts about this remarkable new scientific discovery. He cites case after case of Sargon's wonderful powers at work; personal instances of health renewed and happiness restored, right here in this city. Sargon may be obtained at all Jacobs' Drug Stores throughout Atlanta.—(adv.)

The lowest heating and plumbing bids were: Stephenson Company, heating, $9,655; plumbing, $7,164; Ideal Heating Company, heating, $9,780; plumbing, $8,653; Landers Heating and Plumbing Company, heating, $7,455; Smith and Guest, heating, $9,805.

Plans for the new high school have been prepared by Hentz, Adler and Shultz. The building is to have a high pitched slate roof, and will have three floors. Georgia Leads Dixie in Cutting
Cotton Acreage

While the land devoted to cotton in the other eight southern states increased by 11,000,000 acres in the past ten years, in Georgia it decreased 1,622,000 acres and in South Carolina 648,000.

Statistics showing the decrease in Georgia and South Carolina, as compiled by Charles Molony, Dublin railroad official, and broadcast in a circular letter some weeks ago, were made public by Vivian Stanley, of the state prison commission. Mr. Stanley in announcing them said that they had assumed additional importance in the light of new demands that cotton producers curtail their acreage.

"Georgia farmers," he declared, "have already done more than their share in reducing cotton acreage."

The figure showed that in 1918 Georgia had 5,241,000 acres on which cotton was raised. In 1928 it had 3,719,000 acres. South Carolina showed a decrease in the decade from 8,001,000 to 2,355,000 acres. The total decrease of the two states was 2,268,000 acres.

On the other hand, the other eight states, including Texas, Mississippi, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Alabama, Louisiana, North Carolina and Tennessee, increased their acreage, bringing the total from 25,457,000 to 44,249,000.

Had the other cotton producing states decreased their acreage in the same proportion that Georgia did, the letter stated, in 1928 there would have been 24,800,200 acres of land instead of 44,249,000 devoted to cotton.

"The 44,249,000 harvested acres in 1928 produced 13,705,000 bales of cotton for these ten largest cotton producing states equal to a bale to every 3.21 acres," he said. "This same average yield per acre applied to the reduced 24,800,200 acres would bring 7,725,919 bales, which would amount to an acute cotton shortage."

"With the knowledge that Georgia cut its acreage 1,622,000 acres is shown by the comparison of 1928 and 1918, and is wholly unfair to even think of suggesting to Georgia any further reduction in its already reduced cotton acreage."

Civilians To Meet
At Piedmont Today

The regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Civitan Club will be held today at the Piedmont hotel instead of at the Atlanta Athletic Club, it is announced by Dr. W. Earl Quillian, president of the club. The Civitans are under consideration of a permanent change to the Piedmont and will meet there today as an experiment.

Next week the meeting will be at the Athletic Club, when a vote will be taken on the question. Dr. Quillian says that he is particularly anxious to have a large attendance present at both meetings so that a decision representative of the membership may be made. Today's meeting will be in Parlor G, the third floor of the hotel, at 12:30 o'clock.

The program for today calls for a debate, the subject of which has not been revealed. Dick James, chairman of the program committee, says, however, that the question is one of the most important now facing the country, and he promises an interesting presentation.

State Right of Way Denied Gas Company

The state highway board has declined permission to the Atlanta Gas Light Company to use the highway right-of-way between Atlanta and Marietta for laying a gas line between the two cities, it was announced Monday by Colonel Sam Tate, chairman of the board.

The company's application was filed with the board about two weeks ago, at which time Colonel Tate said he would investigate the legality of the matter. An opinion by attorneys to the board received Monday, Colonel Tate said, indicated that the board is without authority to give the permission asked.

"Our attorneys said that granting such a franchise to the gas company would be, in effect, granting an easement," Colonel Tate said. "This would mean disposing of state-owned property. No one can dispose of property owned by the state without a special act of the legislature."

The chairman said that officials and citizens of Marietta and Cobb county had joined with the gas company in asking the board's permission to use the highway.

Mr. Legge found the incident amusing, particularly in conjunction with his visit to Millidgeville, site of the state prison farm and, on his return to Washington, proceeded to have some gentle fun by writing to Congressman Larsen. And that seems to be that.

The idea that such a minor incident might influence a man like Mr. Legge in deciding upon the location of the Central Co-operative Cotton Warehouse is too far-fetched for serious thought, even had the chairman not spiced such a suggestion with the words "a lot of blamed foolishness." That is exactly what it is.

PLUGGING AND PATCHING.

The proposal by Senator Wheeler to set up an investigation by the senate into the failures of prohibition enforcement would obviously produce nothing new and valuable. The failures are notorious and the reasons for them are as obvious as Pike's Peak from ten miles eastward of it.

The investigation that is needed and that would be profitable to the congress and to the public at large would be one that would go deeply into the character of the prohibition law as it affects the popular psychology and the power of government to make such a law effective. The time for prohibition and anti-prohibition protagonists is past. The Cannons and Wilsons and McBrides have nothing new and substantive to add to what they have been preaching and printing for the ten years past; and the Staytons and Currans and Cadmans, on the other side, have not a single constructive idea to supplement their voluble and vehement oppositions to prohibition during the same decade.

The house judiciary committee is wasting time and money listening to them, and what good can Senator Wheeler or any other senator expect to derive from hearing both the dry and wet fanatics repeat their prohibition beatitudes and their anti-prohibition blues to another committee? The public is surfeited with such stuff and is only concerned to learn from the best legal and judicial authorities an answer to the all-inclusive question: "Is this prohibition policy such a one as government can effectively enforce?"

Twice in our early history, and for imperative national defensive reasons, we had embargo laws, and the people of New England disobeyed them in the most flagrant manner and made smuggling their most profitable pastime; so that the laws had to be repealed to save the face of the government.

The state of Georgia once enacted a law to punish with death "without benefit of clergy" any officer attempting to serve certain writs of a United States court, even the supreme court, upon the authorities of the state.

Against the mandate of the constitution as originally framed, the decisions of the supreme court, and an act of congress, fifteen northern states passed "personal liberty" acts and made criminal "any act of their officers to enforce the fugitive slave law. Those acts were the dragon's teeth that grew the War Between the States.

Now we have a situation not greatly different from those just cited. Large contingents of the people in all sections are in mental or actual revolt against the prohibition laws, and what the situation calls for, is a clear-cut investigation of the policy of prohibition, and not information of how to further patch, plug, and piece out the laws that the government has thus far found it impossible to satisfactorily enforce.

MISCONCEPTION CLEARED.

Dispatches received Monday night from Washington cleared up a misconception that had, for a short while, created some wonder among Georgians and Atlantans. It was evident, from these late advices, that Chairman Alexander Legge, of the Federal Farm Board, looked upon the stoppage of his automobile by a Georgia sheriff as a matter for laughter and some gentle poking of fun. Of course, to anyone who knows Chairman Legge, such an attitude on his part was to be expected. That he might take the incident to heart could not be seriously entertained.

Chairman Legge explained, Monday night, that his letter to Congressman W. W. Larsen, "complaining" of the sheriff's action, was intended facetiously. The truth of the matter seems to be that Sheriff Adams, of Clayton county, stopped the car in which, Chairman Legge was traveling at a pretty fast clip just as he would have stopped any other driven in like circumstances. He then permitted the party to proceed without further action.

Mr. Legge found the incident amusing, particularly in conjunction with his visit to Millidgeville, site of the state prison farm and, on his return to Washington, proceeded to have some gentle fun by writing to Congressman Larsen. And that seems to be that.

The idea that such a minor incident might influence a man like Mr. Legge in deciding upon the location of the Central Co-operative Cotton Warehouse is too far-fetched for serious thought, even had the chairman not spiced such a suggestion with the words "a lot of blamed foolishness." That is exactly what it is.

THAT BATTLESHIP SCARE.

The reported proposal by our naval disarmament delegates at London that the United States, in accomplishing naval parity with Great Britain, shall be free to build a super-dreadnaught battleship of the British "Rodney" type, is excitedly commented upon by the pacifist element of the nation.

They interpret the alleged proposal as a gross solecism in the midst of our expressed policy of earnestly desiring naval reductions and the outlawing of war, on land or sea, as an instrument of national and international adjustments. Even if the reported proposal does not turn out, as we suspect it will, to be a gesture to inform the other delegates of the entire readiness of the United States to match any naval armament that any power may devise, we still do not see anything in such a proposal to have a pacifist fit over.

England, without pausing for a naval reduction parley, has built the "Rodney." Germany is promising to build a warship that will go faster and prove more formidable than the "Rodney." And who knows what the Japanese or the Russians, in a free-for-all naval race, might yet build? In the interim of an agreed upon naval reduction schedule it will do small harm, we imagine, to let the world know that we have not yet run out of the ability and material to build a ship that can meet the best on the seas without fear or quarter.

TAGGED TO BE CANNED.

Senator "Sunny Jim" Watson, the sublime optimist on the republican side of the chamber, now thinks the senate will finish the decoration of the tariff bill along about March 10. After that he allows six weeks to the conference committee of the two houses to compromise the wide conflicts between the Hawleys of the house and the demo-republican coalitionists of the senate.

All of which simply means that the business of the nation, both agricultural and industrial, which is dependent upon tariff schedules for prosperity or depression, is to continue in a fog of uncertainties and fears of ordering "full steam ahead." By the time this tariff bill, if it is passed finally, can reach the president's desk, the crops of the country will have been planted and well under way to maturity. The non-agricultural industries making goods whose chief markets are in the farm belts will hesitate to make full time for fear of overproducing the power of the people to buy up to the measure of their needs. The urge to plant new industries will be refused by capitalists and investors generally.

Considerations like those reversed a standard republican congress district in Massachusetts last week and presage the election of a democratic majority in the house of congress in November coming. The republicans have forsaken their pledges and disgusted the country, and now stand tagged for an early dump into the political ash-can.

For their evil deportment those Chicago aliens should be promptly deported.

New York objects to having to play "freeze out" with the chief of the weather bureau.

When the gripe releases Premier Tardieu maybe he will release his grip on the London parley.

The sovietiers of Russia are the latest and meanest of the iconoclasts of the world.

Florida always stages a "come-back" when the tourist tribes come back to her.

It seems easier to "Remember the Maine" than to remember and recompense the men who redeemed her wrecking by bouncing Spain off of Cuba.

President Hoover is back on his job. It is to be hoped that part of it is whetting his veto ax.

Premier MacDonald thinks there should be an "adequate history of the south" but the people of the south wouldn't buy enough of them to pay the author and publishers.

The president got a cold reception when he returned to Washington, but it was the weather man, not the senate that was responsible for it.

THE WORLD'S LOOKING AND LISTENING WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

Beethoven And Goethe.

A famous Viennese historian who has occupied himself lately with research in the private life of Beethoven, relates an incident which throws at least some light on the estrangement between the great composer and Goethe, if it does not entirely explain the coolness of later years between the two men.

Beethoven and Goethe became acquainted in Tepitz. Goethe's friend, Zelter, and the German man paid attention to the significance of Beethoven's work. One day the two immortals took a stroll together. It was a beautiful day, the sun shone brightly and the air was fresh. The two men walked along the river, talking and laughing. Goethe was in the lead, and Beethoven followed him, humming a tune. They walked for some time, and then Goethe turned back to look at Beethoven. He saw that the composer was looking at him with a strange expression. Goethe asked him what was the matter, and Beethoven replied that he was thinking of the future.

That day in the calendar of America is marked as a day of great importance. The people of the south wrote it in "the red ink of courage," the people of the north wrote it in "the black ink of treason." And those evaluations of the historic day have not yet faded from the annals of the people at large.

It was the day that one of the greatest and bravest of Americans, a man of the highest character and of the most noble spirit, was shot to death by a mob of lawless men. His name was John Brown, and he was a hero to all who loved freedom and justice.

His death was a great loss to the nation, and it was a day that will live in the memory of all who care for the rights of the people.

United States Of Europe.

Before we are 10 years older the United States of Europe will be an established fact. This is the prediction of M. Aristide Briand, before the war such a prediction would have been looked upon as a piece of foolish Utopian dreaming.

Today, however, it is a serious and realistic proposal. It is the only solution to the problem of the world, and it is the only way to prevent another world war.

At Montgomery I heard father discuss the subject of the United States of Europe. He was very much interested in it, and he thought it was a very good idea. He said that it was the only way to prevent another world war, and he thought it was a very good idea.

He said that it was the only way to prevent another world war, and he thought it was a very good idea. He said that it was the only way to prevent another world war, and he thought it was a very good idea.

Mountbank MacDowell has proved by his own case that if you take one grain of truth and pack it in a pound of wood pulp and include some pictures of the elements essential to the pack, there are millions in it.

McDowell tells the world that cancer is caused by a "devitalizing diet," by overeating, by eating foods that do not contain the elements essential to properly nourish the body, associated with a blood taint of some kind in the organism.

Having clinched that, he proceeds to hook the sucker by saying that "the operative method cannot possibly remove the cancer taint from the system."

Then he tells the world that the cancer taint is a "blood taint of some kind" and that it is a "blood taint of some kind" and that it is a "blood taint of some kind."

THE INAUGURATION OF PRESIDENT JEFFERSON DAVIS AT MONTGOMERY 69 YEARS AGO.

BY SAM W. SMALL

The Solemn Inaugural Act.

I cannot remember that Mr. Davis attended a church service on Sunday, the 17th. The anteroom to his suite, I know, was filled nearly all day with persons eager to see and talk with him.

The next morning, of course, was crowded with interviews with the greater leaders from the United States government, members of the congress, and others whom Mr. Davis himself had called to confer with him at Montgomery when he should reach it.

At noon a great procession had formed in the square and adjacent streets and preceded the president-designate to the capitol. The procession was a long one, and it was a very impressive one. It was a procession of the people, and it was a procession of the people.

The procession was a long one, and it was a very impressive one. It was a procession of the people, and it was a procession of the people. The procession was a long one, and it was a very impressive one. It was a procession of the people, and it was a procession of the people.

A Rapturous Ovation Accorded.

Naturally we did not see the reception given to Mr. Davis in the hall of the capitol. So far, there is no indication of a world-wide revival in business.

Don't be surprised if Frank A. Seiberling returns to his old place as president of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company some time this year. It is not many years ago that Mr. Seiberling, the president of Goodyear, passed out of the picture in the awful smash of crude rubber prices. He lost millions, trusted his property, lost his home, and began again.

His friend, Edgar B. Davis, came to his rescue and guaranteed $5,000,000 of Seiberling's notes to enable Mr. Seiberling to start again. The Seiberling Rubber Company—a small modest company—was formed. It now has become a 10-million dollar corporation.

Edgar B. Davis, who, seeing the possibilities in rubber, got the U. S. Rubber Company to develop Sumatra plantations. He made several millions out of this development. Mr. Seiberling, in turn, made millions in Texas, needed $50,000. Mr. Seiberling loaned it to him, and Mr. Davis eventually sold his production for $100,000.

'Everybody's Business'

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR.

Economic Conditions Unfavorable in Many Countries.

American Commodity Level Declining—Federal Reserve Banks Net Earnings $51,216,000.

"How can you build a prosperous business on a falling commodity price level?" This question was asked by the important United States government executive last week. I found it hard to explain a way.

Petroleum, cotton and wheat are all below what they were a year ago.

"Economic conditions have become unfavorable in many countries—on all continents," says Brookline. "Ultimately cessation of the flow of capital from all quarters of the globe to Wall Street should lead to a world-wide revival of economic activity. At present, however, deflation is in progress after a rather serious overproduction of many commodities. Readjustment will take place and the United States will meet diminished foreign demand for her goods during a large part of 1930."

Other commodities showing a lower price tendency are butter, cheese, milk, potatoes, raisins, barley, flour, rye, bacon, lamb, pork, sheep, wool, coffee, rice, cottonseed oil, and sugar.

The American commodity price level is declining, but so are the levels in other nations. It's an international condition. So far, there is no indication of a world-wide revival in business.

Don't be surprised if Frank A. Seiberling returns to his old place as president of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company some time this year. ## To Prove Yourself a Prince, You Must Make "The Old Man" a King

By Robert Quillen

Let us suppose you are an ordinary middle-aged man—married, and the father of two children.

Your parents live in a distant state and you haven't seen them for years.

You mention them frequently, however, and describe them to casual acquaintances as "my little mother" and "dear old dad."

Apparently you are very fond of them and consider them superior to people of your own age and kind.

As a matter of fact, your "little mother" weighed a trifle over two hundred pounds when you last saw her.

She was a complaining, unreasonable creature, who seemed interested in you only when you had violated some foolish restriction.

At times she punished you unfairly; at times she seemed slovenly and ugly; at times she lost her temper and made you ashamed of her.

"Dear old dad" was worse.

He required you to do unpleasant things he wouldn't do himself; he ridiculed you in the presence of other adults; he seemed to regard you as a nuisance, and took no interest in your affairs.

At times he seemed ignorant and stupid; at times he seemed a cheap braggart; at times he seemed vulgar and cowardly and coarse.

When you visited other boys in their homes, and observed everybody minding his p's and q's, you were ashamed of your parents and you resolved to learn good manners and to be somebody.

If your parents were that kind of people, why do you endow them with imaginary excellence?

Because you must make them respectable to make yourself worthy of respect.

By saying "little mother" you create an illusion that adds inches to your own stature; and by ennobling both parents with imaginary virtues you justify the tender reverence that proves you such a model son, and also convey the idea that a child of such ideal parents must himself be a person of unusual merit.

Thus the ego winds food to feed self-respect.

Has it occurred to you that your children some day will have need of self-respect to stiffen their backbones?

Must they also use their imaginations?

If they must go away from home to learn good manners; and if they regard you as an enemy and a kill-joy, the "dear old dad" and "darling little mother" they worship in years to come will be imaginary creatures you wouldn't recognize.

French governments to treaties affecting France's relations with other powers.

Thus, Minister of Marine Legyes, who arrived in London this afternoon, is relegated to the position of an "unofficial observer."

Only the status of Ambassador De Fleurbaey, French representative in London, is not affected by the defeat. Premier Tardieu, Foreign Minister Briand and Minister of Colonies Pictet, in addition to Minister of Marine Legyes, have lost their official positions.

On leaving the Elysee after handing in their collective resignations, the ex-ministers gave no information as to their future plans, except that Premier Doumergue had accepted the resignations. The downfall of the government came as a shock to the man in the street. The general public has shown great enthusiasm for Mr. Tardieu ever since he came to power and believed that he had created a new confidence in France both at home and abroad.

It is felt that he successfully represented the country at the recent Hague stock conference, and placed France in her rightful place before the world at the London naval conference.

The news of the defeat came to the people of Paris as they were leaving the theaters and dropping in at cafes. Comments of "impossible" greeted it everywhere.

Some politicians assert that Mr. Tardieu was not at all sorry to see his cabinet defeated, and that, banking on his reappointment, he had taken an opportunity to make changes in the ministry he has long desired to see.

As the new cabinet must make its way to parliament and read the declaration of policy, the cabinet is a vote of confidence, it is probable that France cannot send her delegation back to the London conference much before March 15.

The question of the connection between the cabinet's fall and the French position in London was widely debated in the evening. Some sections of the French press have lately been very pessimistic about the possibilities for a satisfactory naval treaty.

Another question confronting the new cabinet is how to deal with the Soviet Russia. The disappearance of General Koutepov recently caused two interpretations to be filed in the cabinet demanding that France break with Russia.

TARDIEU'S DEFEAT BECALMS PARLEY.
LONDON, Feb. 17.—(AP)—The defeat of the Tardieu government and the premier's resignation in Paris tonight left the London naval conference becalmed in a sea of figures.

Among the delegates in London the news of the cabinet's fall was greeted with a sigh of relief. It was felt that the cabinet crisis in Paris probably would have led to a new cabinet, and that the new cabinet would have been more favorable to the French position in London.

In circles close to the French delegation it was stated tonight that the cabinet crisis in Paris probably would have led to a new cabinet, and that the new cabinet would have been more favorable to the French position in London.

Thought Defeat of Tardieu

One view here of the political crisis was that Mr. Tardieu deliberately brought it about in order to strengthen his majority in the chamber of deputies, and indirectly to strengthen his hand at the London conference table.

In the becalmed delegates in the London conference, the news came like a fair breeze to shipwrecked sailors. It was readily admitted that the new French cabinet may prove to be as insistent on the demand for a fleet tonnage of 724,470 tons, but at least the developments in Paris today served to divert attention from one of the most painful points of the negotiations so far.

At St. James' palace tonight Prime Minister MacDonald, Secretary of State Stimson and Premier Wakatsuki sat in conference for three hours and went away convinced that the whole future course of negotiations will be materially influenced by the French attitude.

As an indication how serious this influence may be, it was recalled that MacDonald throughout has been making it a point to stress the fact that the British estimate of 50 cruisers was entirely dependent on the general success of the conference. The conference subcommittee of experts discussed the special classes of ships for about an hour and a half.

GOVERNOR TRUMBULL IN GLIDER CRASH

Connecticut Executive Slightly Injured in Accident at Newark.

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 17.—(UN)—Governor John H. Trumbull, of Connecticut, was injured but unperturbed when his glider crashed with him at Newark airport.

The glider had gone only a short distance in the air from its take-off when it went out of control and crashed. Field attendants extricated the governor and carried him into a nearby office. He was examined by a physician, and gave the verdict himself: "It seems to be all right except that my right leg hurts."

In a few minutes he decided to try out the leg and walked out on to the field to pose for a talking picture. Like Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, Governor Trumbull found ordinary airplaning not enough. He was a guest of honor today at the opening of a new hangar of the Colonial Air Transport Company.

Several glider flights were made as part of the ceremony. The governor became more and more active in his role of spectator and finally asked permission to try a flight himself. The glider was raised by an automobile tow, but began to wobble as soon as it left the ground. For some reason unascertained, it fluttered and dropped to the ground—fortunately a distance calculated to be less than 100 yards. The glider was damaged.

Drys Use Confiscation As Prohi Weapon

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—(AP)—The "Beard Nest" in Brooklyn, described by police as a "businessmen's speakeasy," was raided today by federal agents led by Prohibition Administrator Maurice J. Campbell. Two men were arrested on a charge of violating the Volstead act and the federal men said they intended to make an "example" of the place.

Assistant United States Attorney J. Bertram Wegman said the fixtures in the club, installed recently at a cost of about $35,000, would be seized under the internal revenue act, and that an attempt would probably be made to confiscate the building and the land. The act, he said, permits such seizures in cases where liquor is sold without payment of federal tax and with intent to defraud the government.

The men arrested were John Kelly and Thomas Reilly, both of Brooklyn, and said by police to have been employed in the club. Officials seized alleged wines, liquors and cordials with an estimated bootleg value of $25,000.

Heavy Seas Threaten Destruction of Vessel

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 17.—(AP)—A 100-ton, glass-bottomed boat which sank off Miami Beach Saturday night, was occasioned today through heavy seas caused by a brisk wind. Fishermen predicted that the vessel will be a total wreck unless it is salvaged soon.

Miami dock officials said the vessel did not constitute a menace to navigation. It is grounded on a reef covered by about three feet of water. Sixty-three sightseers were rescued from the vessel when it sank after the glass bottom of the craft broke upon striking a sandbar. Many were rescued by four seaplanes which flew to the scene and by speed boats and other water craft.

Fair Weather On Tap Today, Forecast Says

Fair and warmer weather is in store for Atlanta today and for the next several days, according to the official forecast of C. F. von Herrmann, local meteorologist, following a rather chill week-end.

A minimum of 30 degrees was registered here Monday while the day's top figure was an even 50. Today's range is expected to be from 38 to 55 with "clear skies overhead."

South Carolinian Seeks Atlanta Deer

J. B. Goldman, of Mayesville, S. C., Monday sought the aid of The Constitution in his efforts to obtain one of the best of the surplus deer which the parks department of the borough of Atlanta has decided to trade off.

He addressed a communication asking to whom he should write. The Constitution several days ago carried pictures and a story of the decision of the department to swap deer, lions and sacred cows.

L. L. Wallis, general manager of parks and playgrounds, will communicate with Mr. Goldman at once.

Philippine Freedom Declared Unwise

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—(AP)—Through eight hours of questioning, two American witnesses told the senate territories committee today of their opposition to granting immediate political freedom to the Philippines. Chairman Bingham concluded the hearing by reading a letter from Governor-General Dwight F. Davis, whose survey of the immediate tariff barriers purported to show the islands' import trade would decrease from $134,650,000 to $84,483,000 annually and their export trade from $155,050,000 to $95,900,000.

Nicholas Roosevelt, a relative of the former president, testifying as a student of far eastern affairs, said withdrawal of the United States from the Philippines would upset the balance of power in the far east, and make the United States responsible for numerous armed outbreaks that

HOW TO DARKEN GRAY HAIR

Makes One Look Younger.

Men and women who used to be called Grandpa and Grandma are now setting the styles by darkening their gray hair at home.

For instance, J. A. McCrea, a well known Californian, recently made the following statement: "Anyone can prepare a simple mixture in five minutes, that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. Merely take a half-pint of water, add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and 1-4 ounce of glycerine.

These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at trifling cost. Apply to the hair twice weekly with a comb. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and will not rub off."—(adv.)

would almost certainly follow in India, Korea and the LAMINAR PANG AND JOHN M. SWITZER, an investor in the Philippines, submitted a lengthy brief for granting immediate political freedom to the Philippines were not economically ready for self-government.

JUDGING THE SHOWS

Critical Comments on Current Playhouse Programs

At the Capitol.

"DEVIL-MAT-GARE," talking, singing new music with Ramon Navarro and Dorothy Jordan, in the vaudeville program. Comedy, newswear and short subjects. Feature pictures at 1:25, 4:00, 6:00 and 8:55. Vaudeville starts at 3:00, 6:00 and 8:54.

A pleasing menu of vaudeville and a great picture, one ranking with the best of years—that's the program at Loew's Capitol theater for today and the rest of the week.

All the essentials that go into the making of a gift offering that sends an audience out with a glow.

In Novarro has come true, even more so than in John Barrymore, for instance, the perfection of the screen actor. He is a man who has been accustomed to a certain harshness, louder tones than the action of the plot calls for, and very often an individualism that is not in keeping with these are eliminated. His voice rings as true as if he were on a stage before you, or even in the same room with you. His appeal is one that has a universal appeal.

One song follows another and each is as good as the next. Monday the "March of the Old Guard" is particularly impressive. Then there were "Charming," "If He Cared," and "The Love of a Fool." The play is based on the period of Napoleon's exile to Elbe, and on the elaborate of his adherents to bring him back to the throne. Navarro takes the role of Armand, one of the most active of the fallen ruler's backers. Although it would seem to be a tragedy, the play is nicely balanced with moments of comedy.

The vaudeville program carried off its share of applause. Judging from the response of the audience, the as radio and record "Song-a-Minute Man."

Johnny Berkes, one of the drollest looking individuals possible, and dressed to accentuate this fact and his partner Virginia Sully, appear in songs and eccentric dances. Then there is a lavishly costumed number of dance selections by the Myers-Lubow and Rice revue. There are seven girls, worth a second look, and two men who are the last word in athletic tergiversation.

Mrs. James O. Wynn Offers Prize To Pupils at High Museum of Art

An impetus to better and more serious work has been afforded students at the High Museum of Art through the $500 gift of Mrs. James O. Wynn, 650 Peachtree street, well-known Atlanta artist, whose appreciation of the work being done at the museum school and its significance in the development of the cultural life of the community prompted the donation. Mrs. Wynn is the daughter of Mrs. Malcolm Fleming, of East Seventeenth street.

The gift of $500, which has proven a source of wide interest to the school, will be given at the end of the year to the student or students whose work is outstanding. Several hundred pupils, including those in the day and night schools, will be eligible for the prizes.

Mrs. Wynn, who was formerly Miss Adelaide Evans, of Aberdeen, Miss., has taken an active part in the artistic and cultural life of the city since moving to Atlanta shortly after her marriage. She is widely recognized as an artist, having specialized in oil and water color painting through a period of many years. She received her art education at the Art Institute of Chicago and in the schools of Paris, France. During the past few years she has specialized in landscapes. Really professional work is being done by the pupils of the school, who are receiving instruction in preparation for an artistic career which is equal to that afforded by the best American schools. Real artistic projects are being handled in various mediums from charcoal to oil. The second year composition class has completed interesting studies, sketches for which were made in Atlanta theaters. Classes are being offered in lettering, still life, figure study, elementary design, composition, perspective, life drawing, painting, commercial art and illustration, anatomy and allied subjects, which with Benjamin Shute and Robert Rogers, graduates of the Art Institute of Chicago, as instructors, rank with the best in American schools. The museum is open to the public from 9 until 12 o'clock and from 1 until 4 o'clock throughout the week; from 7 to 9 o'clock Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings, and from 3 to 5 o'clock on Sundays.

"WE WILL NOT
CHOOSE THE PATH
OF SUBMISSION
AND SUFFER THE
MOST SACRED RIGHTS
OF OUR NATION AND
OUR PEOPLE TO BE IGNORED AND VIOLATED."

ON THE EVENING OF APRIL 2, 1917, PRESIDENT WILSON DELIVERED HIS MEMORABLE WAR MESSAGE TO BOTH HOUSES OF CONGRESS ASSEMBLED IN SPECIAL SESSION IN THE HALL OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES. HE DECLARED THAT GERMANY'S REPEATED VIOLATIONS OF THE RIGHTS OF AMERICANS AT SEA WERE A CHALLENGE THAT WE COULD NO LONGER ENDURE.

"I ADVISE THAT THE CONGRESS DECLARE THE RECENT COURSE OF THE IMPERIAL GERMAN GOVERNMENT TO BE IN FACT NOTHING LESS THAN WAR AGAINST THE GOVERNMENT AND PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES; THAT IT ACCEPT THE STATUS OF BELLIGERENT WHICH HAS THUS BEEN THROST UPON IT."

BEFORE THE PRESIDENT HAD FINISHED HIS ADDRESS, CONGRESSMEN AND SPECTATORS HAD RISEN TO THEIR FEET, CHEERING WILDLY AND WAVING SMALL AMERICAN FLAGS. A JOINT RESOLUTION DECLARING THAT A STATE OF WAR BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND GERMANY EXISTED BY ACT OF THE LATTER WAS IMMEDIATELY BROUGHT BEFORE CONGRESS.

Meeting To Protest Red Atheism Drive

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—(AP)—In protest against religious persecution in Russia, Protestant churches of Greater New York will hold a joint service at the Episcopal Cathedral of St. John the Divine on Sunday, March 16.

In announcing the meeting at services in the cathedral yesterday Bishop Manning invited people of all faiths to attend. The meeting will be held in conjunction with the Greater New York Federation of Churches.

Bishop Manning called that Pope Pius had urged all Christians to join him in prayer on March 19 for the cessation of Bolshevik persecutions and he asked all the clergy and people of the New York Episcopal diocese to pray on that date, in addition to attending the meeting March 16.

The bishop recalled "the solemn protest against these crimes" made by the pope and the archbishops of Canterbury and York.

"We all know," said the bishop, "that the soviet government is seeking by propaganda and by force to destroy religion and to destroy also those moral ideals which religion has given to the world and that its attacks are directed not against those of any one faith but against all who believe in God."

MRS. HOOTY IS GREATLY ALARMED.

By Thornton W. Burgess.
"Tis not alone the cooling dove
Whose heart is touched by gentle love.
—Hooty the Owl.

It was not long after the little Owl had fallen from the nest over in the Green Forest that Mrs. Hooty returned. She had a mouse. Of course, she flew straight to the nest. Sammy Jay was watching from a tree a short distance away. He was taking great care to be safely hidden while she watched. The lone little Owl in the nest became greatly excited when his mother arrived and snatched at the mouse she was carrying. He was so greedy and he made such a fuss that apparently Mrs. Hooty did not notice at first that there was only one baby there. But after she had given the mouse to the greedy baby she missed the other baby. It looked to Sammy as if at first she didn't know just what was wrong. She seemed to know that something was wrong, but what it was she didn't know. Then suddenly she realized that one of her babies was nowhere to be seen. Mrs. Hooty became much excited. She pushed that other baby aside as if she thought he might be hiding the lost one. She looked in and all around the nest. While she was doing this Hooty arrived. Mrs. Hooty began talking to him excitedly.

Mrs. Hooty began talking to him excitedly.

possibly be in another tree, for it couldn't fly. But anxious parents do foolish things. Sammy Jay began to grow nervous. What if they should come looking in the tree where he was and find him?

At last Hooty flew back to the nest, and a moment later Mrs. Hooty joined him. "A robber of some kind has been here," declared Mrs. Hooty. "One of our babies has been stolen."

"Who would steal one of our babies?" demanded Hooty, looking very fierce. "Who would dare do such a thing?"

"Several, if they got the chance," replied Mrs. Hooty. "Only the other day I saw Terror the Goshawk. He wouldn't be afraid to take one if he got the chance. I wonder if one of those two-legged creatures has been here."

Of course, Mrs. Hooty meant a man or boy. However, when she came to think it over, she was quite sure that it couldn't have been one of those two-legged creatures. She was quite sure that either she or Hooty would have seen one if he had been around. You see, they hadn't been away from the nest but for a very little while. Mrs. Hooty had looked on the ground under the tree, but had seen nothing of the missing baby. However, she had not looked very thoroughly on the ground. She thought she could see everything that was to be seen there.

Bovine Martyr To Science Dies Of Broken Heart

STYLES BY ANNETTE

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Feb. 17.—(UN)—"State College Jessie," a usually contented cow who contributed largely to science by means of a window in her stomach, died today of a broken heart because she was moved to one end of the dairy barn from the opposite end, which she had called home.

Jessie's life was dedicated to science five years ago, when an opening was made in her side, and a sort of scientific window left there, so that experimenters could observe, at their leisure, her internal workings.

She thrived and was perfectly happy, while scientists, by removing through the window samples of her food, learned:

1. When vitamin B is removed from a cow's food, the cow manufactures it synthetically.
2. The existence of a new sort of bacteria.

When Jessie was moved from her old quarters, she pined, refused food and died just when her co-workers were on the point of completing a test that promised to revolutionize theories on cellular fermentation.

Sheriff Found Guilty Of Booze Conspiracy

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Feb. 17.—(AP)—A jury in United States district court agreed today with the government's charge that a conspiracy for the violation of national prohibition laws existed in Pottawatomie county for nearly three years, but disagreed in part as to the purported leaders by acquitting Randall Pitman, county attorney.

Frank Fox, sheriff from 1925 to 1929, was among the eight defendants who were convicted. Pitman, who with Fox was accused by the government with being an "arch conspirator," and three other defendants, were exonerated by the jury. Acquittals against five other defendants were reported, but they had been indicted last week by Judge Edgar S. Vaughn, who conducted the trials.

Of the 102 persons indicted last September on charges of participating in operations of the liquor ring alleged to have held a monopoly in Pottawatomie county under protection of county and city officials, 36 remained in the government's dragnet tonight. Twenty-eight defendants pleaded guilty at the start of the trial and will be sentenced next Saturday. Sentence will not be passed upon the eight convicted today until March 15, the day set by Judge Vaughn as the latest date for the filing of motions for a new trial.

The jury's verdict was returned after deliberation extending over 48 hours and a trial that lasted more than two weeks.

Georgia Delegation Urges Passage of Seed Fund Bill

Will Advocate Passage at House Rules Committee Today of $7,000,000 Sum for South.

BY FRANCIS W. CLARKE.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 17.—Representatives of Georgia and other southern states will appear before the house rules committee Tuesday to urge a special rule for the consideration of the $7,000,000 farm relief bill just reported by the agricultural committee for use of farmers and fruit growers in financing the purchase of seed, fertilizer and feed in connection with this year's crop operations.

Chairman Bertrand H. Snell, of the rules body, said late today he did not anticipate any difficulty in having the rule enacted in view of the agricultural report.

As passed by the house the bill calls for an expenditure of only $6,000,000 and was limited to cover states of the southeast, including Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Virginia, North and South Carolina. The house agricultural body was at first disposed to reject the measure but after receiving favorable recommendation from President Hoover the legislation was extended to cover several states of the west and southwest, which have suffered from flood conditions. The additional $1,000,000 over the senate bill was approved for this purpose.

The bill as passed by the senate was an exact duplicate of one passed last year and was intended to give temporary relief to farmers and fruit growers of the several states affected whose crops had been injured by flood conditions of the previous year. So successful did the legislation prove that a number of southern congressmen and senators reintroduced bills on the subject upon the recommendation of congress last summer and fall.

Representative Charles R. Crisp, of Georgia, sponsored the first meeting on the subject, but others were offered by Senator W. J. Harris and Representative W. W. Larsen, the latter a member of the house agricultural committee, while Senator Walter F. George took part in a conference at the agricultural department which resulted in a favorable recommendation from Secretary Arthur Hyde. All members of the Georgia congressional group have pushed the measure vigorously, however.

The anticipated favorable action from the rules committee tomorrow will open the way for the funds to be finally approved and made available for early loans to farmers and fruit growers, it is believed.

When Your Cough Hangs On, Mix This at Home

The best cough remedy that money could buy, can easily be mixed at home. It saves money and gives you the most reliable, quick-acting medicine you ever used. The way it takes hold of stubborn coughs and chest colds, giving immediate relief, is astonishing.

Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and fill up with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. It's no trouble at all to mix, and when you once use it, you will never be without it. Keeps perfectly and tastes good—children really like it.

It is surprising how quickly this loosens the gum-laden phlegm, and soothes and heals the inflamed membranes. At the same time, part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes, and helps the system throw off the whole trouble. Even those severe coughs which follow cold epidemics, are promptly ended.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded. —(adv.)

Extra Session Call Is Asked By Georgia Representatives Who Offer Services Free

Nottingham, of Bibb, and Edwards, of Gilmer, Urge Gov. Hardman To Help Veterans.

MACON, Ga., Feb. 17.—(AP)—Harry E. Nottingham, Bibb county representative, today in a letter to Governor Hardman called on him to order an extra session of the general assembly of Georgia to remedy the general appropriation bill and provide for an increase in the pensions of Confederate veterans and widows of veterans.

Representative Nottingham offered his services without compensation and expenses and stated it would possibly require a week's session to comply with the law regarding passage of an amended appropriation bill.

Nottingham's letter to Governor Hardman follows:

"The error of the general assembly in failing to provide in the general appropriation bill for the increase in pensions granted to the Confederate veterans and widows is to be regretted.

"However, since it was clearly the sense of the general assembly that this increase be made, as a representative from Bibb county I am willing to attend an extra session without per diem or mileage to remedy the unfortunate situation.

"I sincerely hope that your excellency shall see fit to issue a call for an extraordinary session in order that old people, who will not be with us much longer, may obtain benefits of the act increasing their pensions to $30 a month."

Another request for extra session.

ELLIJAY, Ga., Feb. 15.—Representative Watkins Edwards, of Gilmer county, has written to Governor Hardman requesting the latter to call an extra session of the legislature to relieve the Confederate veterans. Mr. Edwards, who offers to serve without cost, wrote to Governor Hardman as follows:

"I note with great disappointment the ruling of Attorney-General Napier that the Confederate pensioners of the state are entitled to only $30 per quarter instead of $30 per month as passed by the 1929 legislature.

"As a humble representative of the state legislature I, for one, am willing to be called to Atlanta in a special session to relieve this situation without one cent of cost to the state of Georgia, and I believe that most of the representatives will join with me in this matter that is so vitally important to the remaining old veterans who fought through one of the bloodiest wars of all time.

Children in Wreck Escape Miraculously

ASHLAND, Ga., Feb. 17.—(AP)—Albert Carter, 18, driver of an automobile filled with school children and their teacher, suffered a dislocated hip today when he lost control of the machine, the car overturning on a hill.

The escape from serious injuries by the others in the automobile was miraculous. Carter lost control as the car was coming down a hill and it plunged into a ditch, pinning the occupants underneath.

The others in the machine were: Clara Brooks, Eunice Reid, T. A. White, Neal Little, Willie Clay Parham and their teacher, Miss Emily Butts, all of the Coverdale school, six miles from Ashland.

The party was returning from Ashland to Coverdale when the accident occurred.

"As governor of Georgia, I honestly believe that it is your duty to call an extra session to relieve this situation as the burden will be shifted to the legislature and it will not rest on you.

"Please advise me your attitude on this question."

At the governor's office it was stated that the letter from Representative Nottingham had been received and answered. The letter from Representative Edwards had not been received by Governor Hardman, it was said.

No comment on the proposals made by the two Georgia representatives was forthcoming.

CO-OPERATIVE PROGRAM

OUTLINED TO FARMERS

MACON, Ga., Feb. 17.—(AP)—Small but strong co-operative marketing associations were described today by J. W. Flor, head of agricultural economics and marketing at the State College of Agriculture in Athens, as essential in the federal farm board program to help farmers.

The 1921 law for organization of co-operative marketing associations, Mr. Flor said, met the requirements of the federal board. He said the usual procedure is to draw up a membership agreement and obtain a charter granting the right to buy and sell certain types of products grown on Georgia farms.

Mr. Flor spoke before a group of farmers of Bibb and neighboring counties. D. P. Bruce, Bibb farm agent, said the Bibb Co-operative Dairy Association was ready for business.

Miss Wellons May Die.

AMERICUS, Ga., Feb. 17.—Miss Evelyn Wellons, 26, is seriously ill at her home here as the result of a bicycle accident of mercury poisoning and may die, according to attending physicians.

Miss Wellons, who is a graduate nurse, formerly resided near Myrtle Springs in this county, had made her home in Americus during several years, where she engaged in the practice of her profession. Recently she had been in poor health and at times was despondent.

The bill is an amendment to the act passed in 1920, providing for the paying of the expenses of the trips of gold star mothers to foreign countries and seeks the payment in cash of the estimated cost of such trips in lieu of such pilgrimages to those mothers who for any reason might elect to make such trips.

In their letter to Senator Harris the aged couple, who are Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Hollis, of Forsyth, Ga., say in part:

"Please permit us to thank you for your friendly sympathy and thoughtfulness of the bereaved mothers who cannot make the pilgrimage to France because of the infirmities of age and health. My wife is physically unable to make the trip and the money would be a boon to her. I am 70 years old and she is 68 and have but little property. You are always right and we want you to remain where you are as long as you live. We both thank you."

In discussing his bill, which has already had two readings and been referred to the military affairs committee of the senate, Senator Harris told:

"There are many gold star mothers without homes and comforts and who are physically unable to make the trip. It would cost the government to send one of these gold star mothers to France to build a modest home and give them other comforts.

"Of course my bill would not deprive these mothers of the right to make the trip to France. It would be optional with them."

Life Lost Saving Comrade, Boothe's Body Still Missing

McRAE, Ga., Feb. 17.—(AP)—Search of more than 24 hours today had failed to locate the body of Lamar Boothe, 24, of Lumber City, who gave his life to save a companion when their boat capsized near Lumber City Sunday afternoon.

Waters of the Ocmulgee river and the surrounding swamps have been covered by searchers seeking Boothe, but no trace had been found late this evening.

Boothe, with three companions, Leon Webb, Will Booker and Lewis Sawyer, all of Lumber City, were enjoying an outing in their boat equipped with an outboard motor yesterday afternoon.

A short distance from Lumber City the boat struck a snag and overturned. Booker and Sawyer made the shore safely, leaving Boothe with Webb, who could not swim.

It is believed that Boothe was injured when the boat hit the snag and when he attempted to swim, he was unable to do so. Boothe called out to Webb and the two grasped a floating log. They held on until the log drifted a short distance from shore and Webb succeeded in landing safely.

Webb was found by searchers shortly before midnight Sunday.

Webb, cold and almost helpless, could give no information concerning the fate of Boothe.

Miss Wellons May Die.

AMERICUS, Ga., Feb. 17.—Miss Evelyn Wellons, 26, is seriously ill at her home here as the result of a bicycle accident of mercury poisoning and may die, according to attending physicians.

Miss Wellons, who is a graduate nurse, formerly resided near Myrtle Springs in this county, had made her home in Americus during several years, where she engaged in the practice of her profession. Recently she had been in poor health and at times was despondent.

The bill is an amendment to the act passed in 1920, providing for the paying of the expenses of the trips of gold star mothers to foreign countries and seeks the payment in cash of the estimated cost of such trips in lieu of such pilgrimages to those mothers who for any reason might elect to make such trips.

In their letter to Senator Harris the aged couple, who are Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Hollis, of Forsyth, Ga., say in part:

"Please permit us to thank you for your friendly sympathy and thoughtfulness of the bereaved mothers who cannot make the pilgrimage to France because of the infirmities of age and health. My wife is physically unable to make the trip and the money would be a boon to her. I am 70 years old and she is 68 and have but little property. You are always right and we want you to remain where you are as long as you live. We both thank you."

Officers Raid Modern Still in Monroe County

Dry officers of Monroe county, Georgia, in search of the source of supply of illicit liquor found this still secluded in a dense wooded tract. The big boilers were set in brick furnaces and the operators were using coke and charcoal for fuel. The dry officers said the still turned out rye whisky, whereas most Georgia moonshiners confine their distilling to corn.

If you are NOT yourself

Are you being denied the happiness that is due you in life?

It is easy to abuse our golden life-given body, but Nature has a way of signaling danger. If heeded, graver troubles may be avoided. That tired, exhausted feeling, lack of appetite, aches and pains, flabby flesh, skin troubles—all speak of a body weakness—a lack of the normal count of red-blood-cells.

Without plenty of rich, red blood there would be no strong, sturdy, powerful men, or healthy, beautiful women.

So, if you are not yourself, look to the red-blood-cells to give you sturdy health.

Every normal person's blood should contain about 5,000,000 red corpuscles to the cubic millimeter—those vitalizing, tiny red-cells which give blood its color and are carriers of nourishment to every part of the body. It is dangerous to let the red blood count remain below normal.

With an increase in the red-blood-cells, you will be on the right road to Health. This is Nature's way to body power and to clear skin. Naturally, with your strength restored, it is easier to fight disease and infection; to enjoy your food and to sleep soundly. When firm flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby, you will feel strong—your nerves will become steady—more happiness and friends will follow.

S.S.S. has been a blessing to millions of people

It helps Nature increase the red-blood-cells. It promotes healthy body building.

S.S.S. will not work wonders over night—no restorative medicine can do that—but, be assured, that when taken according to directions full and satisfactory benefit will usually ensue.

S.S.S. is time-tested and has a successful record of over 100 years back of it.

S.S.S. is made from strictly fresh vegetable drugs, gathered at the proper season of the year. It is easily assimilated. Pleasant to take. You owe it to yourself to try S.S.S. It is on sale at all drug stores in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

Sen. Harris' Bill for War Mothers

Commended by Georgia Couple

BY FRANCIS W. CLARKE. WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—(Special)—A 76-year-old father and 68-year-old mother of a Georgia boy who was killed in France during the World War and whose body is interred there, have written an unusual letter to Senator W. J. Harris, of Georgia, expressing their appreciation of his bill to provide payment direct to war mothers of the cost of pilgrimages to the last resting places of their sons.

The bill is an amendment to the act passed in 1920, providing for the paying of the expenses of the trips of gold star mothers to foreign countries and seeks the payment in cash of the estimated cost of such trips in lieu of such pilgrimages to those mothers who for any reason might elect to make such trips.

In their letter to Senator Harris the aged couple, who are Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Hollis, of Forsyth, Ga., say in part:

"Please permit us to thank you for your friendly sympathy and thoughtfulness of the bereaved mothers who cannot make the pilgrimage to France because of the infirmities of age and health. My wife is physically unable to make the trip and the money would be a boon to her. I am 70 years old and she is 68 and have but little property. You are always right and we want you to remain where you are as long as you live. We both thank you."

In discussing his bill, which has already had two readings and been referred to the military affairs committee of the senate, Senator Harris told:

"There are many gold star mothers without homes and comforts and who are physically unable to make the trip. It would cost the government to send one of these gold star mothers to France to build a modest home and give them other comforts.

"Of course my bill would not deprive these mothers of the right to make the trip to France. It would be optional with them."

30TH INSTALLMENT.

"I had no idea," she confided, "that Beatrice Essiter was a young woman of such distinction. I remember her as a sulky, ill-mannered child when she first came back to England. If she went out more here, she would become quite the vogue. Three of the diamonds in my new necklace, by-the-by, came from Mr. Martin Hews. He has an astonishing knack of getting hold of fine jewels. I suppose he is fabulously wealthy, and does not go to him when they must have money."

My employer's jewel-collecting propensities was a subject I thought it best not to discuss, but my partner seemed scarcely to notice my reticence. "Of course, it's a terrible misfortune for him to be deformed like that," she went on, "but at any rate, it has given him an opportunity of concentrating upon his hobby. My brother is a strange character, too. I never know in what part of the world he is. Sometimes I don't see him for years together. He has a house in Java, a bungalow in Rangoon, a flat in New York, an apartment in Paris."

"A genuine cosmopolitan then," ventured, "He has an amusing time, I expect."

"I don't know what he does," my partner confessed, "I sometimes wish he would confide in me a little more. He makes and loses fortunes with equal facility. Lately I am glad to say he is rather more by way of making them. I expect your charge of the evening is wishing that he had taken dancing lessons at some time during his life. How he has the nerve to go hobnobbing round the room like that! I can't imagine, especially with a girl who has been dancing with you," she added, "I will take pity on Miss Essiter."

We four sat for a few minutes in a corner of the winter garden, and presently our host's little man whom I had not met—looking a good deal less than his 60 years, came and bustled his wife off to greet some late arrivals. Leopold took his leave, and Beatrice and I made our way downstairs, where we found a score of people waiting for taxis. A very handsome man in a top hat, who had been waiting in front of the door and Mr. Leopold appeared.

"Can I drop you anywhere?" he asked, without any particular cordiality. "There aren't any taxis."

Beatrice accepted at once. I followed the two down the steps.

"Where to?" Mr. Leopold asked. "Claridge's, if you please," my companion begged.

He gave the address to the chauffeur and seated himself by her side. "Dull party," he declared, "Can't think why Sarah gives them. Never went in for entertaining myself—perhaps because I never married. You young people off home?"

"Well, it's nearly 2," Beatrice remarked, glancing at her wrist-watch. "Poo! What's that?" our host scoffed. "Too much sleep, not much exercise, and too little to drink are the three worst things in the world. Let's go to a night club. I know a beauty. Just half an hour, eh?"

Now I can declare quite honestly that it was my intention to refuse that invitation. I had commenced an earnest effort during the last few days to school myself into an attitude of caution towards every stranger in the world, and Leopold, notwithstanding his relationship to our late hostess, was certainly a stranger of a peculiar type. My companion, however, settled the matter before I could open my lips.

"I should like to," she agreed. "Want to go to the Embassy?" Mr. Leopold suggested. "Pretty empty by this time, though. I'll take you to a place that only has 80 members or so, but they're all there every night after two. Wonderful music, good wine. Hi, John!" he shouted down the speaking-tube. "Go to the Blue Skies."

We slackened speed, passed Claridge's and turned towards Oxford street. Soon, so far as I was concerned, we were lost. Suddenly we pulled up in a small street chiefly occupied by warehouses. Mr. Leopold stepped out, and was saluted at once by a giant commissionaire. We followed our host into a circular hall, with a vista on our left of a delightful dancing floor lined with tables. The waiters and maîtres d'hôtel seemed to be a superior class, and several of the men and women standing about in the hall and dancing I recognized as having been present at Lady Bonafar's reception. Our host motioned towards the ladies' cloakroom opposite.

"Will you leave your things in there, Miss Essiter?" he begged. "You won't mind signing in the secretary's room?" he added, turning to me. "This is a quaint little place, but most exclusive. You have to sign personally and have your proposer and the secretary countersign."

I followed him into a room farther down the passage. A man was seated at a desk, writing by the light of a heavily shaded green lamp. He looked up as we entered and smiled at the expression of astonishment in my face. The door behind me closed with a little click. We were suddenly plunged into complete darkness.

It took the whole of my first few moments of recovering consciousness to realize where I was. There was a blink in my mind again which I struggled in vain. The secretary's office at the Blue Skies, with its soft carpet, faded green light, the face of the man seated at the desk, so utterly unexpected, his head raised at my entrance, that thin, sardonic smile upon his lips—and afterwards! A faint thread of recollection was swept away in a spasm of horror. I suddenly knew that I was in a police cell.

There were voices outside, someone coming in. I sat up, and struggling against a deadly sickness, rose with difficulty to my feet. A policeman entered, accompanied by a doctor. "Getting over it?" the latter asked curiously.

"Getting over what?" I demanded. "Why am I here? Who brought me in?"

The doctor smiled indifferently. "You were brought here at 3 o'clock this morning, drunk," he said dryly. "I sat with my head between my hands. I began to apprehend the full nature of the cunning with which my clumsiness was confronted. Then, like a stab, I remembered Beatrice. "Can you tell me where the young lady is?" I asked.

The doctor shook his head. "I know nothing about any young lady," he assured me. "Where was he when he was found, Constable?"

"Sitting upon the pavement in Chatham street," the man replied, with a grin. "Drunk as ever I did see a gentleman in my life," he added. "Well, you seem to have pulled yourself together," the doctor remarked. "I thought I had better have a look at you before you went into court, but you're perfectly all right now."

"You are prepared to certify that I was drunk?"

"I certainly am," he replied. "I should imagine you're not going to deny it, are you?"

"I was drugged," I told him emphatically. "He was not an unpleasant-looking little man, and a gleam of humor shone in his eyes as he smiled. "I've heard that story pretty often," he confided. "You may have been drugged, but you smelt of whisky enough to knock a man down."

"I never tasted a drop of whisky all last night," I declared.

"Better bring your case along, Jim," he enjoined. "Mr. Horton is sitting. In my disordered evening clothes, unwashed and with my hair unbrushed, I was led out of the cell. To my relief, as we entered the courtroom, there were barely a score of people present. The magistrate looked up from his papers.

"Charge?" he inquired.

"Ordinary drunk and incapable," I heard the clerk whisper. "The policeman who had brought me in stepped into the box.

"Police Constable Dethbridge," he announced. "At three o'clock this morning, I was on duty in Chatham street. I saw the prisoner seated with his back to a wall, apparently asleep. I tried to rouse him, but failed. He smelt very strongly of whisky. He is a heavy man, and I had to call a taxicab to bring him to the station."

The magistrate nodded. "Any questions?" he asked.

I shook my head. The doctor took the place of the policeman.

"I examined the accused at about a quarter to four this morning," he said. "I came to the conclusion that he was hopelessly drunk. He smelt strongly of whisky. He was utterly incapable."

"Any statement to make?" the magistrate inquired.

"Yes, I have a statement to make," I said. "I have never been drunk in my life, and I was never less so than last night. I had dined at Claridge's with a young lady, where we had one bottle of champagne and one liqueur. I was afterwards at a reception, where I had one glass, or perhaps a glass and a half, of champagne at supper, and another glass later in the evening with my hostess. A gentleman to whom we were introduced there gave us a lift in his car, and invited us to accompany him to a night club. I entered the club perfectly sober and was conducted to the secretary's room to sign my name in the visitor's book. I remember nothing more until I awoke in the cell this morning."

The magistrate looked at me, disbelief in his eyes.

"You remember nothing of what happened to you in the secretary's room of the club?"

"Not a thing."

"Can you tell me the name of the club?"

"I never heard it."

"Can you tell us the name of the young lady with whom you dined?"

I should prefer not to.

The magistrate tapped impatiently upon the table with his pencil. "What about your friend who introduced you to the club?"

To my intense surprise, Leopold suddenly arose from the back of the room.

"I am here, sir," he announced, "in case my evidence is required."

Obedying a gesture of the magistrate's, he stepped into the witness-box.

I met Major Owston for the first time last night," he testified. "He seemed to have been drinking a good deal, but he was still sober. I offered to take the young lady and him to a very respectable night club. He seemed a little unsteady on entering, and I made a point of taking him to the secretary's room to sign his name before I introduced him into the club proper. Unfortunately, as it happens, the secretary offered us a whisky and soda, and Major Owston had no sooner drunk his than he collapsed."

I looked across speculatively at Leopold. His eyes met mine a little reproachfully.

"It was an awkward position for me," he continued. "Fortunately, he happened to have told me where his rooms were, so we put him into a taxi-cab and sent him home. I suppose he insisted upon trying to come back."

"Forty shillings and costs," the magistrate pronounced curtly.

There was a brief whispered conversation between the police sergeant and the magistrate's clerk. I gathered that no money had been found upon my person. Mr. Leopold stood up again.

"As I was responsible for taking the young man to the club," he said, "I should like to pay the fine."

"Can I appeal?" I asked the magistrate.

"You can, but I should advise you not to," was the uncompromising reply.

I stepped down and made my way outside. A quarter of an hour later I let myself into my rooms. Smart greeted me with an air of grave distress.

"A bath quickly," I ordered. "Any calls or messages?"

"Nothing of any sort, sir."

"No more?"

"Nothing."

Richards Predicts Bright Future on Court for Wilmer Allison

RELIABLE DRIVE NEEDED FOR STAR TO REACH TOP

Temperament Also Keeps Him Down, Tennis Expert Says.

This is one of a series of stories in which Vincent Richards is analyzing the playing ability of the men chosen for this year's United States Davis cup squad.

By Vincent Richards.
International Tennis Star and Former Davis Cup Ace.
(Copyright, 1930, for The Constitution by North American Newspaper Alliance.)
NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—When Wilmer Allison won the national intercollegiate championship in 1927 he was hailed as one of the finest tennis players the colleges had produced in years.

During the two seasons of play since then this 25-year-old star from Dallas, Texas, has more than lived up to all the fine things said about him, ranking well up in our first 10, making the Davis cup team, and winning the Wimbledon doubles title with John Van Ryn.

There is a great deal of similarity between the games of Allison and his doubles partner, Van Ryn, whom I considered in my preceding article. Like Van Ryn's, his game hasn't a single outstanding weakness. He is good both from the baseline and from the net, and he has one of the most difficult services to handle.

NEEDS RELIABLE DRIVE.
If his driving were a little more reliable I should rate Allison at potentially a national champion, but he is inclined to periodic slumps in back court play, his forehead falling more often than his backhand, which is especially effective.

But even though he is not quite as reliable as Van Ryn, I believe Allison has it in him to go farther in singles, for when he gets "hot" and has everything working right he can play the most sparkling tennis.

His service is one of the biggest assets. It is unusual, because Allison delivers it with his body almost squarely parallel to the net. An injury to his side now makes this position necessary, but in spite of the handicap Allison has one of the best deliveries in the game. He has both a fast ball and a twist service, usually giving the latter on his second effort.

A DEADLY OVERHEAD.
As most fine servers are usually first-rate smashers, Allison is particularly deadly overhead. That is one reason he makes so good a doubles partner. He can be counted to bring down lob with killing effect, though he can be erratic in this as well as in driving. He is an excellent volleyer, too, one of the half dozen best in the amateur ranks of this country, and with so good a service to prepare the way for his rushes forward his net attack is to be feared.

The obstacle to Allison's rise to greater heights has been his temperament and his susceptibility to the humidity of the east. The blond young Texan is inclined to become discouraged if his shots are not working for him, and to lose heart. But this doesn't mean he is not a fighter. When his shots are working he keeps effort after his man to the end, even if he is fighting a losing battle.

His victory over George Lott in the national championship at Forest Hills last September was a demonstration of this. Lott appeared to have the match sewed up after gaining a wide lead in the fifth set, but Allison kept fighting and going to the net on the slippery turf, and finally he carried the day.

EASTERN WEATHER.
Coming from a part of the country where it is hotter than in the east, but where the heat is dry, Allison is

Archdeacon Gets Toronto Release

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 17.—(AP)—Maurice Archdeacon, formerly with the Atlanta Crackers and Chicago White Sox and last year outfielder for the Toronto baseball club of the International league, announced here today he had just received notice of his unconditional release by the club. He suffered a split hand the latter part of last season and was out of the game several weeks.

PELS TO START WORK MARCH 5

Squad of 30 Players Expected To Answer Call for Practice.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Feb. 17.—Manager Larry Gilbert, of the New Orleans Pelicans, has issued a call for all of his players to report at Hibernia Park Wednesday, March 5, to start spring training.

While prospects of the Pelicans at this time are highly problematical, Gilbert is expected to have close to 30 men in training here next month. In addition to the veterans on the roster, nine in number, there are a number of newcomers who will answer the daily roll calls. One of these is Bill Wambegans, veteran second sacker, who is expected to be used at the key position post this year to steady down the young infield that is expected to wear Pelican spangles.

Wambegans played last year with the Kansas City Blues, and in 1928, he was purchased during the winter baseball meeting at Chattanooga. Whitey Glanzer, secured from Dallas in trade for Dave Danforth, and Bill Harrington, bought from Fort Worth, are two other newcomers who have had a great deal of professional baseball experience.

Among the rookies will be Pitchers James Urinscho and James Munn and Infielder E. C. Culbreth, who were acquired during the past week.

Urinscho, bought from the Charlotte club of the Middle Atlantic league, won ten games and lost seven last year. Munn was with Greensboro, of the Piedmont league, in 1928, but played independent ball in 1929. Both are right-handers. Culbreth formerly played with Pensacola and Columbus in the South-eastern league. He hit .302 in 125 games last season.

Tilden Captures South France Title
NICE, France, Feb. 17.—(AP)—Big Bill Tilden held fast to his position in international championship tennis today by capturing the southern France championship. He won his final match against the Irish Davis cup player Lyttleton Rogers, 4-6, 8-6, 6-1, 5-7, 6-0.

Tilden was not at his best, but he had Rogers, who is a six-foot-six youth of 20, put up one of the most interesting matches ever seen on the Riviera. Both were exhausted after two and a half hours of hard play during which many of the games went to deuce.

Rogers started out well and captured the first set and was well on his way to winning the second but lost it through carelessness. Big Bill swept through the third set, 6-1. The fourth set went to deuce but Rogers finally captured it and then Tilden took the final set with his style of ten years ago, playing such beautiful tennis that Rogers could make no headway, failing to take a single game.

Referee Outside Ring Likes Plan
Charley Short, perhaps the first referee to sit outside the ring in America, officiated at a dual meet between Navy and Dartmouth, and commented as follows:

"I had no difficulty at all in handling the bouts and I think the plan will be a success."

JOHNNY DOBBS PLANS TO BUILD SLUGGING CLUB

Deals Are On for Catcher

By Ralph McGill.

Johnny Dobbs, the Ringgold recluse, announced yesterday afternoon that he expected to put an entire team of 300 hitters on the field this summer to the use of the Cracker ball club can do toward getting some runs across the plate.

For it is a well-known fact that thrower may throw and throw and throw in a very masterful fashion and if the boys do not knock in a few runs for him he will get no better than a tie.

CONVERSATION.
Dobbs and the Cracker office held a lengthy conversation yesterday afternoon relative to the completion of the team. That catcher whom the Crackers have been dicker for so long is not yet on the list. He is almost a Cracker, but not quite. The office is in a swivel over the case. It may be tomorrow or it may be a week before the deal is completed or blocked. He is in another league and there is some trouble about those waivers. There is an outfielder whom John Dobbs wants, but nothing has been settled about that.

Once the team is completed, however, Dobbs expects to put out a team of hitters. He is a great believer in the power of the base hit, is Johnny Dobbs. It was for that reason that he signed Ed Brown away from Toledo and snared Elton (Sam) Langford from Shreveport. Langford's contract came in yesterday and great things are expected of him.

FAIR ARM.
Brown is said to have an arm that is just fair but he can hit with any of them. Langford is a hitter and a thrower. That outfielder whom the Crackers are after will play the outfield position left vacant if he is signed. He is a 300-cracker. Meanwhile Dobbs thinks rather highly of Ed Lass, the Nebraska state wild man, who hit for the amazing figure of .370 last season. And should Bob Farham come back from Brooklyn he would be still another of the 300 hitters on the squad.

The infield brings Milt Stock, Jimmy Johnston, Jack Sheehan and Ivy Griffin out of the averages with good totals. Milt Stock, with the managerial worries of the Dallas Steers on his bat, hit .302 last season. He is a great man in a pinch, is Milt Stock. Jimmy Johnston, always a 300 hitter and another handy man in a batting pinch, fits into John Dobbs' scheme.

JACK SHEEHAN.
Jack Sheehan, who has not yet set in his contract, but who will, batted but .285 last season. He was injured for a time and got a late start or his average would have been up to standard. As it was he led all the league's second basemen in runs batted in, in fielding and in another department or so. Dobbs expects him to be in there with the rest of the hitters this summer after a good start in the spring camp.

Ivy Griffin, who is getting all the consideration for first basing, batted .351 last year and in about a dozen years in the American Association has never been below .300.

THREE HIGH.
Meanwhile the contracts, which had been moving very slowly indeed, were speeded by the addition of three, two of them being regulars. Milt Stock, Elton Langford and Leo Bader sent in signed contracts. Others are expected today. The holdouts, Battle, Rauch and Sheehan, are expected to capitulate soon.

The Crackers are attempting to make a deal for Frank Haley, utility man of last year, to take over the manager's position at Vicksburg. Business Manager Spiller plans to leave tonight for Dover Hall for a visit with Wilbert Holcomb, manager of the Brooklyn club. He said no baseball business would be discussed. L. W. (Chip) Robert, president, was unable to accompany him.

The revised spring schedule for the Crackers was announced as follows:

March 25-26—Reading in Savannah.
March 27-28—Toledo in Anniston.
April 1-2—Cincinnati here.
April 3-4-5—Detroit here.
April 6—Montgomery in Montgomery.

April 7—Brooklyn in Macon.
April 8—Brooklyn here.
April 9-10—Minneapolis here.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 17.—The White Sox claim to have some sort of pugilistic champion in the volatile Art Shires, but the Philadelphia Athletics have two, even if they are quieter and not so well known.

Mickey Cochrane was champion of the boxing ranks at Boston University.

MY FAULT

My Greatest Golfing Weakness and How I
Corrected It.

By Willie Klein,
Twice Long Island Open Champion.

This is the sixteenth of a series of articles written by famous amateur and professional golfers, telling how they overcame outstanding faults in their play.

It has often been said I am a notoriously poor putter. I'll grant I've lost in several tournaments because of an inability to get my putts down, but my greatest weakness is the short chip to the green.

There is really nothing I can do about it; there are days when I can stick them dead to the pin and others when I just can't come within yards.

I know how to play the shot, I'd be a pretty poor professional if I didn't. But with me the success or failure of the shot seems entirely due to my state of mind. I know this is the one with which I have the most trouble. It haunts me like a specter.

Sometimes I'll get on the course with a fine feeling of confidence.

Davis Cup Board Members Reduced

Only Three Men Are Named for 1930 Commission.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—(AP)—Louis B. Dalley, of New York, newly elected president of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, began his regime today by reappointing Joseph W. Wear, of Philadelphia, as chairman of the important Davis cup committee and Fitz-Eugene Dixon, also of Philadelphia, non-playing captain of the team.

These two individuals will constitute two-thirds of the Davis cup committee as the only other member is Holcombe Ward, of New York. Dr. Dalley declared this committee will have absolute authority in all matters pertaining to the Davis cup campaign. It is much smaller than usual, being less than one-fifth the size of the committee of 17 which served last year.

A similar group of three consisting of Harry S. Knox, Chicago, chairman; Joseph W. Ivy, Kansas City, and

Collins, Earnshaw Join Cobb on Hunt

for 1930 Commission.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Feb. 17.—(AP)—Eddie Collins, coach, and George Earnshaw, right-handed hurler, of the world's champion Philadelphia Athletics, have halted their southern jaunt to the spring training camp at Fort Myers to get in a few days' hunting and golf with their old teammate, Ty Cobb, now on the retired list.

The trio left Augusta early this afternoon on a hunting expedition on Cobb's private plantation in Burke county.

Collins and Earnshaw will remain here over the week-end before resuming their journey to the spring proving grounds of the Connie Mack crew.

Jones W. Mersereau, New York, will constitute the Wightman cup committee responsible for arranging the annual women's team matches with England. Mr. Knox succeeds Julian S. Myrick, New York, who for the first time in years was not given any office.

30 Giants Hold First Workout

Dave Bancroft Leads Squad,
Mostly Rookies, in Practice.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Feb. 17.—(UN)—Dave Bancroft led a squad of 30 Giants through a brisk two-hour drill in the first workout of the training season today.

Among the players on hand were Fred Fitzsimmons, Bill Walker, Jack Scott, Joe Genewich, Hub Prett and Shanty Hogan. Eddie Marshall, who will try to make the grade at second base, also was one of the squad.

Travis Jackson, captain and short-stop of the Giants, is here but did not workout. He has not as yet signed his 1930 contract, but has until March 1 to report. Scott is also unsigned.

Donie Bush had a tough time getting his 19 White Sox to stage their initial workout here this afternoon, finally being forced to use Bear Field, the Giants' training grounds.

The Sox were scheduled to workout at the Athletic field of St. Mary's University but found the grounds there impossible.

Outfield Worries Clay; Jackets Enter 2nd Week Baseball Practice

LOOKS BETTER; CONDITION FINE

Big Turnout Indicates Pitching Problem Will Be Solved.

By Herb Clark.

With one week of practice gone and some five or six more on the books before they must swing into action for the good of their record, Georgia Tech's diamond Yellow Jackets went into their second week of work at the Rose Bowl field Monday afternoon.

The Jackets have rounded into condition fast, despite the cool weather. It would seem that the old heads were right when they expressed a collective opinion that it was impossible to hurt youngsters.

Coach Kid Clay's "big problem" at the Flats this year is apparently an ever-changing one. At first it was thought that his pitchers would cause more trouble than anything else. Later it developed that several "unknowns" and at least one "loss" would be on hand for the season. The mound staff is far from finished, even with this added strength, but there is no gain-saying the fact that it is added strength.

PASTURES BOTHER. And the latest developments have the "Little Napoleon" tossing on his couch from worry over the outfield. As a matter of fact, that may be more to the point.

Andy Hutchinson, the only veteran available who has had enough experience to step right out and hold his job, took the count in a battle with the faculty and will not be on hand for the season.

Clay has one or two other aspiring gardeners on the 1929 squad running about on his ball park, but his main trio is expected to be picked from the ranks of the slugging crew which has but recently come up from the freshman squad.

Rod Harper, who led the Junior Jackets with the sick last year, Dick McKee, who pushed Harper for the honors, and "Boom" Walden, another with an eye for base hits, are all in the thick of the fight for varsity outfield berths. All showed strong throwing arms last season and should easily season into finished players.

FINAL CREW.

These three, with a few veteran substitutes and one or two others from the former yearling team, will probably compose the final outfield crew. Clay must work hard with them to have them ready for the season, but should find them ready to play good ball soon.

The mound, with eight leading candidates working out in the drive for places, seems to be in a fair state of repair. Brosnan, Powell and Quinn have all had some work and hold their own. The staff, Strickland, Mazarin and Mitchell, all sophomores, look likely and will be adding to the staff. Leford looks like a promising southpaw and may easily be fitted into a place on the staff. Reeves has had some experience and may turn out a regular pitcher. It will be the first invasion of the middle west by a Blue team.

and smiling. Ed Herron, Frank Speer, Jack Farmer and "Slim" Dawkins are all in the thick of the fight for catcher who will fill any gaps that may happen to be open. The battle for the varsity post is going on at a whirlwind pace with no leads shown in early reports.

J. O. Y. Class Wins From Oakhurst, 23-15

J. O. Y. Class defeated Oakhurst Presbyterian, 23 to 15, in the Monday night series of the Sewanee league played on the "Y" court to maintain its perfect record. Stith and Robertson leading the attack. Garrison played best for the losers. With Fleming securing 17 markers, North-west Atlanta romped to an easy 27-7 victory over Yoneda Class of Capitol View Baptist.

Pierre Howard rang the hoop for five field goals and four charity shots to aid Denatur Presbyterian in a surprise win over Calvary Aces, 22 to 14. McGhee, playing part time for the losers, led them in scoring with seven points. "Tubby" Allen, as usual, led the attack that netted Patillo Memorial a 27-to-24 win over North Atlanta Baptist. This last shot 22 points, while Horace Smith, with 14, did the most effective work for the losers.

THE SON OF TARZAN No. 74

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Night came before Baynes regained consciousness and realized that he was floating down a great African river, alone, wounded and lost. By using his open palm as a paddle, he painfully managed to move the native canoe nearer to shore. Almost opposite him he could hear the roaring of a lion. An overhanging tree branch brushed his face. Eagerly he grasped it testing its strength. He would seek safety in the trees!

He drew himself slowly upward until his feet swung clear of the canoe, which, released, floated silently from beneath him and lost itself in the dark shadow downstream. He had burned his bridges behind him! Again the lion roared. Baynes wondered if it had been following him. He must climb or drop back into the river. He struggled to raise one leg over the limb, but, weak from bullet wounds, he found his strength ebbing.

He was ready to drop from exhaustion when a new fear tightened his muscles. He saw two spots of flame a short distance from above him. The lion was standing on the river bank glaring at him—waiting! The young Englishman's feet hung almost to the water's surface. He heard a slight commotion in the river beneath him, followed by a sound that froze his blood. It was the click of a crocodile's great jaws snapping together.

He struggled futilely to safety. Even as he did so he felt himself slipping—into the river and those frightful jaws. Then he heard the leaves above him rustle to the movement of some creeping creature. The branch he hung upon bent from an added weight. Still Baynes clung desperately. He felt a soft warm pad upon the fingers of one hand and then a hand reached down and dragged him up among the branches of the tree.
